Ike Continues To Take Budget Fight to People

Shows Determination to Buck Economy-minded Congressmen

WASHINGTON (UP) — President Eisenhower today planned to continue his stepped up drive to carry his fight for his budget to the people.

An informed source said the Chief Executive plans to defend his budget in every speech he makes between now and the time Congress finishes work on the budget.

The President showed his determination to buck economy-minded congressmen when he said at his press conference Wednesday that "as long as I am in a fight, I never rest."

He said he will "never stop" until he achieves what he and his administration believe "to be necessary for the operation of this government, for the protection of ourselves in this critical world, and for the waging of peace."

Wilson Makes Appeal

In other developments on the budget:

—Secretary of Defense Charles E. Wilson prepared to carry Eisenhower's fight against military budget cuts to Congress. He was expected to ask the Senate Defense Appropriations Subcommittee to restore $1,300,000,000 of $2,586,775,000 in cuts made last Tuesday by the House Appropriations Committee.

—Sen. Richard B. Russell (D-Ga.) said he saw "no validity" to Eisenhower's argument that a cut in U.S. military aid to foreign nations would result in more draftees and longer terms of U.S. military service. But Russell said "I don't suggest that we do away with military assistance."

—Speaker Sam Rayburn indicated he will call off a Democratic drive to cut taxes this year. But he predicted that Congress would cut taxes next year.

—The Senate approved a $16,010,370 budget for the White House and several small agencies—$4,911,000 less than requested by the President.

Third TV Speech?

Eisenhower has made two radio-television defenses of his record peacetime budget in the past 10 days and has indicated he may make a third. Press Secretary James C. Hagerty said Wednesday the response to Eisenhower's defense of his foreign aid program Tuesday night has been "really quite amazing."

He said the White House has received over 500 telegrams with support running "better than 9 to 1" in favor of the President.

The success of the Tuesday appeal may move Eisenhower to make another nationwide address soon. But informed sources said no plans have been made so far.

The President will make a telephone address Friday to a regional GOP meeting in Trenton, N.J. He also will address the GOP National Committee here June 7.

Censure Unlikely For Remarks by Senator Morse

WASHINGTON (UP)—A Senate censure move against Sen. Wayne Morse (D-Ore.) appeared unlikely today despite GOP anger over his attack on President Eisenhower.

Senate Republicans demanded that Morse publicly apologize for calling Eisenhower and Teamster boss Dave Beck "the same kind of immoralists" in a Detroit speech last Saturday.

Sen. Homer E. Capehart (R-Ind.) told the Senate Wednesday that if Morse made the statement on the Senate floor he might have been "subject to censure." Sen. Styles Bridges (R-N.H.) called Morse's statement "shocking."

Morse, a former Republican, promptly repeated the statement on the Senate floor and challenged his GOP critics to try to censure him for it.

He "invited" the Senate GOP Policy Committee to introduce a censure resolution and include remarks he made "on or off the Senate floor."

"Introduce it and let's get on with the trial," he said.

Morse charged that Eisenhower had in effect taken money out of the pockets of taxpayers by giving a tax write-off to the Idaho Power Company for the construction of power dams on the Snake River between Idaho and Oregon.

Morse said he saw no distinction distinction between "a Dave Beck" reaching into the pockets of his union members for "an interest free loan" and the Eisenhower administration "putting its hands into the pockets of the taxpayers" for what he said was in effect a similar loan to Idaho Power.

Fayette City to Form Board of Trade in Borough

Citizens of Fayette City are taking steps to organize a Board of Trade or Chamber of Commerce.

Headed by Robert Premoshis, a businessman, representatives of the citizens met Tuesday with George Cieply, secretary of the Monessen Chamber of Commerce, to learn the functions of the local organization.

Businessmen in the community, Premoshis stated, are interested in an industrial development program, business promotions and additional parking facilities. They hope to accomplish these goals through an organization such as a Board of Trade or Chamber of Commerce.

At present, the citizens have a steering committee gathering information for the proposed organization which will be presented at a mass meeting of all businessmen and other citizens soon.

Ike, Advisers Get Briefing on Disarmament

WASHINGTON (UP)—President Eisenhower and his top security advisers gathered today to shape disarmament moves designed to test Soviet sincerity for tapering off the costly East-West arms race.

Eisenhower asked special disarmament adviser Harold E. Stassen to report to the National Security Council on his recent disarmament talks with the Russians in London.

Informed sources said there is top-level opinion that disarmament is one field in which East and West may be able to negotiate successfully. There have been indications since the death of Premier Stalin that the Russians may be willing to agree to some disarmament inspection plan.

Word reaching Washington indicates that the new Soviet leaders began to face up to the horrors of nuclear warfare soon after Stalin died.

Soviet Defense Minister Georgi Zhukov, a World War II comrade in arms of Eisenhower, is understood to have spearheaded debate on the issue.

One possible U.S. move certain to be considered at today's Security Council meeting is a proposal to set aside an aerial-ground inspection zone in the Siberian-Alaskan-Northern Canadian area.

Committees Are Named For 'Cy Johns Day'

General Chairman William J Huston today announced committees for the Chamber of Commerce "Cy Johns Day" dinner to be held Tuesday, June 4, at the Slovak Home.

Cyrus N. Johns, president of American Chain & Cable Co., Inc., of which the Monessen Page plant is a subsidiary, was formerly a general manager of the local works.

He will be honored at the mid-year dinner-meeting of the Chamber.

Huston said Willard Krasik, general chairman of ticket sales will have Leonard C. Stern chairman of the commercial division. Assisting Stern will be Allen Cowan, Carl Milsom, Norman Henderson, Joseph C. Friedland, William Yoki, Joseph Saladiak, Leonard Falbo, Michael Skirpan Jr. and Jay Stark.

Dr. Ralph Palmer, Jr., chairman of the professional division will be assisted by Dr. Lew Farquhar and Dr. Harold Meybin.

The labor division will have John Czelen and Glenn Chew as co-chairmen. Robert Eberley and Carl Chaverin will be co-chairman of the industrial division, while Edwin Melenyzer will be in charge of the general division with Harry P. Roberts assisting.

The reception committee headed by Dr. J. Karl Beery includes Mayor Hugo Parente, Harry R. Pore Jr., Robert Kramer, Paul Nicoden, Norman Henderson, Dr. Joseph Pallone, Robert McKelvie Sr., Harold B. Cramer, Charles W. Hagerstrand, and Edwin Dawson. The Staging Committee led by Jack Sylvester has Roland Bunting, Glenn Chew, John Czelen, A. E. Wilen, John Kotch, Jr., Charles Williams, Harry Gribben and Joseph C. Friedland.

Tickets are on sale by members of the ticket committee or they may be purchased at the office of the Chamber of Commerce. Women along with the general public are invited to attend the affair that is expected to attract some 500 people.

Tornado Weather Is Clinging to Midlands

By UNITED PRESS

Tornado weather clung to the nation's midlands today after erupting in a new wave of damaging twisters across five states.

Tornadoes rammed hard hit Missouri for the third straight day Wednesday night and others skipped across Texas, Kansas, Arkansas and Oklahoma.

No deaths were reported in the onslaught, but several persons were injured and numerous homes damaged or destroyed.

The United Press counted at least 53 persons killed since Monday night when a giant tornado crushed through the suburbs of Kansas City. The victims, all but one from Missouri, included 38 in the Kansas City area, six in the devastated community of Fremont, four at Desloge and four elsewhere in the state. An Indianapolis, Ind., city employe was electrocuted while clearing away storm wreckage.

The tornado producing weather conditions, a combination of warm humid air clashing with a line of colder air, extended from eastern Texas to Michigan. Numerous severe thunderstorms were reported throughout the area.

A tornado near Waco, Tex., Wednesday night churned a path 500 feet wide and five miles long, injuring four persons and destroying seven homes. One of the injured was in serious condition.

President Eisenhower Wednesday declared parts of storm-battered Missouri, including the Kansas City region, major disaster areas and eligible for federal aid. Gov. James T. Blair Jr. of Missouri requested 25 million dollars from the government to help tornado victims.

Heavy rains along the squall line touched off floods in southern Illinois. Some 30 families were evacuated Wednesday at Marion, Ill., when Crab Orchard Creek overflowed, and about 30 families were forced to flee at Harrisburg, Ill.

Slight Damage in Two-car Crash

Slight damage resulted in a two-car collision on Route 906 near Belle Vernon early yesterday afternoon, State Police reported today.

The cars involved were driven by Ulysses Grant Stickle, of Richmond, Va., and Joseph Beresick, 16, of 840 Graham St., Belle Vernon.

No injuries were reported.

Lawrence for Highway Network Near Pittsburgh

BRACKENRIDGE, Pa. (UP)—A network of highways is needed in the Allegheny and Ohio River valleys to develop industrial sites, according to Mayor David L. Lawrence of Pittsburgh.

Lawrence, in an address to the Allegheny Valley Association Wednesday, urged a "community of interest and sureness of purpose" of the kind that produced the flood control system in the rivers' watershed.

He noted the Allegheny Conference on Community Development has held there is a vital need for a modernized Route 28 from Pittsburgh to Butler County, costing 26 million dollars, and an expressway and from Pittsburgh's North Side to Butler County, costing 25 million dollars.

"It is both far-sighted and reasonable," he said, "to expect that any expressway moving up the Allegheny Valley from Pittsburgh must certainly connect with the Keystone Shortway which, I understand, should soon be approved for the federal interstate system."

He said the Allegheny Valley route ultimately could provide a link to Lake Erie ports and industrial areas.

Student Kills Mother, Sister After Argument

RYE, N. Y. (UP)—A 14-year-old high school student, infuriated over family criticism of his school work, went on a rampage Wednesday night and shot his mother and sister to death.

The boy's father, Eugene R. Casey, a New York public relations man and one-time reporter for the Boston Globe, was stricken with a heart attack a short while after his son's outburst. He was reported in critical condition at United Hospital in Port Chester.

The boy, Andrew, a freshman at Rye High School, surrendered the gun, a .22 caliber rifle, owned by his brother, to police when they arrived. Coherent, but rambling, he gave no motive for the shooting, according to District Attorney Joseph Gagliardi. But police said criticism of school grades appeared to have touched off the shootings.

His mother, Dorothy, 48, shot six times, was killed instantly. The sister, Sheila, 19, a bank employe, shot once in the eye, died 90 minutes later at United Hospital.

Fayette County Squires Named

HARRISBURG (UP) — Gov. George M. Leader today asked Senate confirmation of his appointments of two justices of the peace in Fayette County.

Nominated were John E. Savage, Newell, for that community, to replace the late William Haley and Elmer M. Henckel, Gibbon Glade, to replace the late John D. Workman in Wharton. Both appointments would run to January, 1958.

Keystone Short-Way Approved

WASHINGTON (UP)—The federal government today approved the Keystone Short-Way in Pennsylvania as part of the new 27 billion dollar interstate highway system.

Federal Highways Administrator B. D. Tallamy wired the Pennsylvania state Highways Department that it had approved the shortway over another east-west route paralleling existing Route 6 in the northern tier counties.

By including the shortway in the 41,000-mile federal system, the government will pay 90 per cent of the cost of its construction while the state will pay the rest.

At the same time, the public roads bureau made the more northern road along Route 6 a part of the federal aid primary system, which will make it eligible for federal aid to the extent of 50 per cent of construction costs.

Tallamy said he recommended the Keystone Short-Way over the other proposed route at the recommendation of the Pennsylvania state Highways Department.

Relcoation Approved

Tallamy wired Joseph J. Lawler, state highways secretary, that "in accordance with recommendations of the state of Pennsylvania Highways Department, I have approved relocation of the interstate system . . . from the northerly location generally following U.S. Route 6 to a more central east-west alignment known generally as the Keystone Short-Way."

He said the shortway will extend from a point on the Ohio line "where adequate connections" can be made with Youngstown, Ohio, east to the vicinity of Lock Haven, Hazleton-Wilkes-Barre area "and thence easterly to a point of junction with the interstate system extending between the Delaware Water Gap and the vicinity of Scranton."

In Harrisburg, a state Highway Department spokesman said the federal government will issue a route description soon for the estimated 300 million dollar, 291-mile route.

Although Tallamy did not mention specifically the proposed Sharon - Stroudsburg terminal points, it was pointed out the road would probably run in the general areas of those cities.

"Youngstown is the key," the spokesman said. "We have to have a jointure with Ohio. The next step will be final location and there may be refinements."

Highways Secretary Joseph J Lawler said he was "pleased to have this long-awaited decision on the part of the Bureau of Public Roads.

"The route description will determine just what use we can make of traffic studies on the shortway," he said. "The next move is to retain engineering firms and go forward with the work. The amount of time it will take depends on the route locations."

Lawler reiterated it would take an estimated 10 to 12 years to complete the project.

'BECK' COMMITTEE — Chairman of the Teamsters five-man committee to discuss "general problems," which means what to do about President Dave Beck, is Einar Mohn, a vice president of the 1,400,000-member union. Public relations advisers have told the group that now is the time to get rid of Beck.

Fairless Warns Labor Not to Just Go Along

NEW YORK (UP)—Benjamin F. Fairless, president of the American Iron and Steel Institute, warned today against "the bland assumption that our prosperity has found the secret of perpetual motion. . .and all the American people have to do is go along for the ride."

The former chairman of the U.S. Steel Corp. placed the burden of responsibility for the continued health of the economy squarely on the leadership of organized labor.

In a speech before the closing session of the 65th general meeting of the Iron and Steel Institute, Fairless said "if labor leadership assumes that industry and the economy will continue to grow indefinitely despite constant cost-price inflation," the country is headed for trouble.

Roger M. Blough, U.S. Steel chairman, charged that the proposed graduated income tax on corporations is a "cleverly designed political device" to force the "voluntary dissolution" of big companies "masquerading as an aid to small business."

In directly linking the current inflationary spiral with wage demands, Fairless said "since 1946 labor has demanded and obtained wage increases that leave no margin for sharing the benefits of increased productivity with consumers."

He asserted that since 1946 the share of the national income alloted to wages has increased from 64 per cent to 70 per cent, while the share in corporate profits fell from nine to six per cent.

Another Delay in Nuclear Testings

LAS VEGAS, Nev. (UP) —The Atomic Energy Commission shortly before midnight Wednesday night postponed for the eighth consecutive day the opening of its 1957 nuclear test series because of high winds.

The postponement was announced less than six hours before the scheduled detonation of a medium - sized atomic device at the Nevada test site. The AEC said adverse weather conditions again made it necessary to call off the "first shot" in the series.

Nonstop to Paris From California

PARIS (UP)—A Douglas DC7C airliner of the KLM Royal Dutch Airlines touched down today at Le Bourget Field on a 1 hour, 35 minute nonstop flight from Long Beach, Calif.

The airliner Zwarte Zee, piloted by Capt. J. Stroeve, landed at 11:53 a.m. (6:35 a.m. e.d.t.) in sunny but cloud-flecked skies.

It was the first nonstop Los Angeles to Paris flight by a commercial airliner, and it set a record of 5,300 nautical miles non stop 90 miles farther than its own record.

(A nautical mile is 6,080.2 feet or 1.15 statute miles).

The big plane retraced much of the route of the epoch - making trans-Atlantic flight by Charles A Lindbergh of 30 years and two days ago.

Local Girl Is Reported Missing

Sylvia Brown, 14, of 221 Third St., Monessen, has been missing from her home since 9 p. m. Tuesday, her mother, Mrs. George Brown, told police yesterday.

The mother said she did not know what type of clothes the girl was wearing when she left home.

Executive Board Will Ask for Resignation At an Early Meeting

WASHINGTON (UP) — Teamsters Union leaders today greased the skids under Teamster President Dave Beck.

Teamster Secretary-Treasurer John F. English and several Teamster vice presidents prepared to call for a union Executive Board meeting that could topple Beck as boss of the nation's biggest union.

Sources said a majority of the board would ask Beck at the meeting to resign. The sources predicted Beck would be forced out if he refused.

At the same time, a grass roots movement aimed at ousting Beck continued to spread throughout the nation.

Big Locals Represented

Teamster Joint Council 55 representing 10,000 workers in the Washington area called Wednesday night for Beck's ouster "forthwith." The demand was made in a telegram to the Executive Board.

Teamster Local 807, largest in the New York metropolitan area, called for Beck's ouster Wednesday. It represents 8,800 workers.

Similar demands have come from Teamster locals in Chicago, San Francisco and other cities.

The AFL-CIO Executive Council, which gave Beck another shove toward the door this week by firing him as a council member, planned today to reach a final decision on whether to oust three small international unions from the AFL-CIO on corruption charges.

The council laid down a strict code of financial principles Wednesday designed to protect union funds against raids like those charged up to Beck.

Want Clean House

The three unions facing possible suspension from the AFL-CIO are the Laundry Workers, the Distillery Workers and the Allied Industrial Workers. Their membership totals 170,000.

The question before the council is whether any or all have cleaned house sufficiently to stay in the AFL-CIO. The three were involved in welfare fund abuses uncovered by a Senate committee in 1954-55.

The Teamsters union also has been charged with corrupt leadership, but the AFL-CIO Wednesday postponed indefinitely further hearings on the charges.

The action was viewed as a move to give the union more time to clean house under the guidance of English.

'Right-to-work' Laws Criticized By Steel Union

UNIONTOWN, Pa. (UP)—The underlying purpose of congressional investigations of labor unions is to further "pave the way for vicious right - to - work laws," United Steelworkers Secretary-Treasurer I. W. Abel charged Wednesday.

"We have no objection to investigations of abuses in labor," Abel told the annual convention of USW District 13. "We expect no special privileges. But labor is being discriminated against and it must be girded to fight."

Abel predicted that a drive for a national right-to-work law, banning union shop contracts, will be started within a year to 18 months.

Such a law, Abel said, would "for all practical purposes wipe out unions such as our USW."

"Labor has enemies in industry as well as in government, enemies sitting back for an opportunity to destroy unions." Abel told the 200 delegates representing 56 local unions in the steel making areas of Johnstown, Monessen, Charleroi and Altoona.

The USW secretary - treasurer pointed out that 18 states already have adopted right-to-work laws. He said that although the USW had 21 million dollars in its treasury when dues were boosted $2 a month last September, the dues boost was necessary "to provide funds to defend us from this onslaught."

Two Youths Are Caught in 85 Mile an Hour Race

Two youths, spotted looting a telephone booth near California yesterday, were captured after a six-mile chase at speeds reaching 85-miles per hour.

Their apprehension led to solving six other telephone booth robberies.

California Policeman Matt Mazick was driving by Scotties Highlander Bar, on Route 88 north, when he observed the two youths making off with a telephone coin box from a booth outside the establishment.

Mazick said the pair sped away in an auto and after giving chase at high speeds, he managed to halt them in Allenport. He identified one of the young men as Joseph Mannina, Jr., 18, of Dunlevy. The other was a juvenile.

Questioning of the boys by State Trooper William Hauth, Belle Vernon and Bell Telephone Detectives Robert Conn and John Harding, resulted in the arrest of James Martino, 26, of Roscoe, and a 16-year-old-old boy.

Mazick said Martino was involved in only one of the crimes and his case was settled with the telephone detectives.

Two juvenile petitions have been filed, one each in Washington and Westmoreland counties, Mazick reported.

Tabulation Error

In yesterday's tabulation of votes in Washington Twp., Marie S. Gage was listed as receiving one vote in Brownstown. It should have read 100 votes, giving the unsuccessful candidate for school director a total of 356 votes.

Salvation Army Fund Committees

Chairmen of the various committees to solicit funds for the Salvation Army building campaign were announced today by Harry Gribben, general chairmen.

Charles Hagerstrand will head the special gifts division; Norman Henderson, merchants; Dr. Ralph Palmer, Jr., and Dr. Joseph Pallone, schools.

The Army is seeking $25,000 between now and June 29 to make final payment for the new building it dedicated last Dec. 2.

Gribben said additional committeemen will be named later.

Bauer Top Vote-getter Of County Candidates

Complete unofficial election returns for Westmoreland County today showed incumbent Edward G Bauer the top vote-getter in the race for judge of common pleas court.

Bauer and District Attorney I. Alexander Sculco, both "organization" candidates, took the Democratic nominations for the two judgeships.

Avra N. Pershing, Jr., and Robert H. Rial won on the Republican ticket.

Bauer polled 28,587 votes and Sculco 26,824.

Joseph M. Loughran, former assistant D. A. who split with the organization to run as an independent Democrat, was third with 23,204 votes. Other Democratic votes showed James I. McWherter with 15,885, Rial 8,557, and Pershing 7,991.

The Republican judgeship vote was: Rial 15,687; Pershing 13,750; Loughran 1,767; Bauer 6,747; McWherter 4,617, and Sculco 2,679.

Deputy Sheriff Howard M. Bricker pulled the major surprise of the County election by beating Raymond H. Turner for the Democratic nomination for Clerk of Courts. Bricker had 28,185 votes to Turner's 27,011. Turner, who is currently serving as Clerk of Courts by appointment, is the son of A. B. "Buddy" Turner, chief of County detectives and "boss" of the Democratic organization.

Robert L. Kunkle beat Ralph K. Porch 15,274 to 6,791, in the Republican Clerk of Courts race.

Coroner Stephen D. Yoney, of Monessen, won by more than 4,000 votes in his bid for renomination. Yoney polled 25,203 to 21,115 for his Democratic opponent, Pat J Doyle, of Greensburg.

The Republican race for coroner was close, Joseph R. Hunter received 11,558 to 11,244 for Dr Paul O. Marsh.

Soviet Supports Syria in UN

Bridge Is Feature of Dispute

By UNITED PRESS

The Soviet Union threw its support today to a Syrian complaint in the U. N. Security Council that Israel had endangered Middle East peace by building a "military" bridge in a demilitarized zone between the countries.

A dispatch from Damascus said Soviet Ambassador Sergei Nemtchina pledged Soviet support in a 45-minute talk with Syrian Foreign Minister Salah Bitar. Russia backed Egypt earlier this week in debate on the Suez Canal.

The Security Council called a meeting for today to hear the Syrian complaint. Western observers said it was possible Syrian Ambassador Rafik Asha would reopen the entire Palestine question, with Russia using the occasion to further its championship of the Arab cause.

The Syrians said Israel had constructed a Bailey bridge in the Huleh Marsh area north of the Biblical Sea of Galilee—scene of several Israeli-Syrian clashes—in direct violation of the 1949 armistice agreements ending the Palestine war.

Israel said it built a bridge for use by earth moving equipment; Syria says the bridge could be used for tanks and other heavy military equipment. A. U.N. investigation found the bridge could be strengthened for military purposes but thought the bridge was built in connection with reclamation work.

Israel, which is expected to reply in the Security Council early next week to the Syrian charges, concentrated today on a new military training program for its armed forces and the threat of a cabinet crisis.

Egyptian and British trade representatives converged on Rome today for talks aimed at restoring Anglo-Egyptian trade relations. Egyptian sources said Egypt would start off the talks by demanding "hundreds of millions of dollars" in reparations for the Anglo-French-Israeli invasion last fall.

Egypt also was ready to demand that Britain unfreeze some 260 million dollars in pound sterling assets frozen by Britain when Egypt nationalized the Suez Canal. Freezing of the credits has crippled Egyptian foreign trade.

Britain was reported ready to demand payment of 168 million dollars for British property seized by Egypt—including British government shares in the Suez Canal Company.

Britain called the Rome talks "extremely delicate" since the two nations do not have diplomatic relations.

Less Money for School at Pitt

HARRISBURG (UP)—The General Assembly has received legislation to appropriate $1,600,000 to the University of Pittsburgh School of Medicine, 200 thousand dollars less than requested by Gov. George M. Leader.

The Republican sponsored appropriation bill was introduced in the House Wednesday. Leader had requested $1,800,000 in his budget message, pointing out the school received $1,571,440 during the 1955-57 biennium.

The money would be used for maintenance, support of dispensaries and purchase of equipment for the two year period beginning June 1. The bill was sponsored by Reps. Norman Wood (Lancaster), Edwin C. Ewing (Allegheny) and John R. Haudenshield (Allegheny).

Clerk Blamed for All Tax Shortages

PITTSBURGH (UP)—Stephen C. Pastrick, charged with embezzling $67,000 in school taxes while he was Harrison Twp. tax collector, today blamed his former chief clerk, Mrs. Bette Liotta, for discrepancies in the township accounts.

Pastrick, 56, broke down in tears as he took the stand to testify in his own defense as the second day session of his embezzlement trial opened this morning.

Denying any wrongdoing, Pastrick said Mrs. Liotta became chief clerk in his office in 1948, she had charge of all records, and should be responsible for any shortages.

Mrs. Liotta was acquitted April 2 after trial on charges of being an accessory before and after the fact.

The alleged embezzlements occurred in tax accounts for the years 1951, 1952, and 1953.

Pastrick, who was was expected to remain on the witness stand most of the day, said he "never was suspicious" of anything wrong in the tax accounts until he received a call from an auditor who had helped review the books.

But on one occasion, Pastrick said, he "thought something was wrong in Denmark" when he went to his office, found the safe door unlocked, and saw $2,500 in currency inside.

Pastrick testified he removed the money, deposited in his bank and waited for 10 days to see if Mrs. Liotta would inquire about it.

Pastrick said he "became angry" when she failed to mention it so he finally queried her.

"She was a smooth talker," Pastrick said. "She said she knew all about it and convinced me everything was okay."

The trial opened Wednesday with testimony by the Harrison school board solicitor and three auditors. The prosecution then rested its case.

Charles P. Walter, the solicitor, said audits showed tax accounts were short by $8,800 in 1951, $28,800 in 1952 and $35,400 in 1953, the last year Pastrick served as tax collector.

His testimony was confirmed by the auditors, Archie C. Norris, Richard Finley and Henry Chyprzunski.

The shortages totaled $74,000. Walter said Pastrick paid $7,000 to the accounts leaving the shortage at $67,000. He said Pastrick had a judgment filed against him after his bonding company made a settlement of $50,000.

Pastrick's trial before visiting Judge Morgan H. Sohn of Beaver County and a jury of four men and eight women started shortly after the defendant learned he had won the Democratic nomination for justice of the peace in the township.

After the state rested its case, defense attorney Irving Sikov called to the stand two school board members, Vincent Henschel and Kenneth Young, both of Natrona, who testified the defendant had a good reputation.

Mary Barch, Natrona, a former employe in Pastrick's tax office, testified "he is an honest man."

Assistant District Attorney Peter F. Flaherty concluded the state's case with the reservation he be permitted later to call Mrs. Bette Liotta, former chief clerk in the tax office, who was acquitted recently of charges she aided in the alleged embezzlement. She was reported ill with a virus.

Throop Reelected Library President

Charles C. Throop was elected to a third term as president of the Monessen Civic Library at a meeting of the board of directors held yesterday.

Dr. Ralph Palmer, Jr., was elected vice-president, succeeding Dr. Michael K. Duda.

Miss Vivian L. Drake, librarian, was elected secretary-treasurer.

Routine business followed the election.

Step Up Plans To Open 'Pike Trials in June

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Dauphin County district attorney's office today stepped up plans for opening of the Pennsylvania Turnpike Commission trials early next month following court rejection of appeals by some of the 22 defendants indicted on criminal conspiracy charges.

District Attorney Huette F. Dowling said he was prepared to try the cases June 4 as previously scheduled. He will be assisted by Vincent G. Panati, special state deputy attorney general.

The 22 defendants were cited in an alleged conspiracy to defraud the commission of millions of dollars in contracts for mine filling under the turnpike's Northeastern Extension.

Acting President Judge William H. Neely, in an opinion joined by the other judges, dismissed Wednesday all petitions filed. They included requests for bills of particulars and demurrers or legal moves to dismiss the indictments.

Working Wives of Pastors Are Charged

CLEARFIELD, Pa. (UP)— The "growing" practice of pastors' wives taking full-time jobs outside the church came up for criticism Wednesday at the annual meeting of the Central Pennsylvania Conference of the Methodist Church.

In a report to the conference, four district superintendents scored the practice as "not in the best interest of the church or the parsonage family."

"No pastor," they said, "can afford to spend time needed for the demanding work of his church in performing household and family tasks made necessary by his wife's full-time employment."

The report, read at the opening of the conference's 89th meeting at Trinity Methodist Church, was signed by Dr. Charles F. Berkheimer, Sunbury, Rev. Robert R. Croyle, Altoona, Rev. F. LaMont Henninger, Harrisburg, and Rev. Lester A. Welliver, Williamsport.

The report said full-time work for pastors' wives outside the church could be justified only in cases where "additional income for minimum subsistence may be needed."

The minimum salary for a married minister in the conference is $3,200 a year. A motion raising it to $3,500 was expected to be introduced at the current meeting.

The district superintendents also deplored reports some funeral directors included ministerial fees in bills sent to bereaved families. Ministers, the superintendents said, are "not for hire."

Also noted with disapproval was a practice of having the church, instead of the minister, pay utility bills for the parsonage. The superintendents warned the practice saves ministers from paying income taxes on the salaries they would have received to meet the utility bills.

"A pastor," they said, "should not be subjected to any condition which would allow the suspicion that he is avoiding the payment of legitimate income taxes which must be paid by laymen."

LOVE FROM PRINCE — Now "famous," 8-year-old Maureen Vernon reads about herself and sees her picture in a London newspaper, all due to a greeting card from a friend. But the friend was Prince Charles, son of Queen Elizabeth. The prince had his tonsils out in the hospital where Maureen's father works. The prince met him, and asked if it would be all right to write to Maureen. The royal billet read "To Maureen with love from Charles."

Cabinet Crisis Reportedly in Many Countries

By UNITED PRESS

Denmark, France and Finland were in the midst of cabinet crises today and the new government of Italy was in trouble and could fall in the near future. Here is the situation in brief:

France: President Rene Coty hopes to name new premier within 48 hours, but confirmation by national assembly may drag out crisis for weeks. Top potential successors to Premier Guy Mollet are former Premier Rene Pleven and Francois Mitterand, outgoing justice minister.

Denmark: Denmark without a government since Premier H. C. Hansens party failed to win parliamentary majority last week; King Frederick IX takes time out from entertaining Queen Elizabeth of Britain to discuss formation of a coalition government.

Finland: Premier Karl-August Fagerholm resigned Wednesday, just two weeks before visit by Russian leaders; President Urho Kekkonen meets with parliamentary leaders today in search of new premier.

Rome: Indications mount that only the Christian Democrats will support Premier Adone Zoli in parliamentary confidence vote early in June. Observers fear new crisis, forsee early general elections.

Army Reserve Unit to Display In Charleroi

Auxiliary Police Corps Suggested In Pennsylvania

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Legislature today considered a proposal to establish an auxiliary police corps to report to authorities any improper driving practices they may witness, with rigid tests prescribed for repeated offenders thus reported.

Legislation sponsored by Sen. Albert R. Pechan (R-Armstrong) would create "The State Police Auxiliary Traffic Inspection Corps", serving without pay, to report all traffic violations involving speeding, failure to yield the right-of-way, drunken driving, failure to keep right of center line, improper passing and disregarding officer or traffic control device "which they witness."

One inspector would be appointed for each 2,000 licensed operators in the state.

The inspectors would not be authorized to make arrests, but would make reports to state police, who would give written notice to the reported offender that he was observed in the alleged violation. Persons reported five times would be required to submit to "a rigid examination and driving test to determine (their) fitness to operate a motor vehicle."

Russians Concerned With Manners; Even Have Red 'Emily Post'

MOSCOW (UP) — One of the hardest things to lay hands on in Moscow today is a little book with the misleading title, "For Healthy Living," issued by the "Society For Dissemination of Political And Scientific Knowledge."

Had it been published in the United States it would have been called "Good Manners" or "Etiquette." It is hard to get because it is so popular.

It is the closest the Russians have come to Emily Post and they preface it with a note that while bourgeois manners are only a shrewd coverup for a "man's true face," the manners of the Soviet man "reveal his great inner culture."

For example:

On eating—"Some think that a guest should eat as little as possible. Nothing could be more contrary to good manners. When visiting, just as at home, satisfy your appetite."

On dress—"Men may wear pajamas about the house, but only with a shirt underneath. Pajamas are never to be worn at the table when guests are present."

(One of the curious things about this country is that Russian men use their pajamas for almost anything but sleeping. They serve as lounging clothes on long train trips and as that "little something you throw on" to go to the corner store for the morning newspaper.)

On drinking—"Women should not drink vodka, cognac or other strong spirits. There ought to be red wine on the table for them."

(This may fall on deaf ears. Even since the war, the girls have been a pretty fair match at comradely toasts with their male companions.)

"Drinking at the table is not compulsory. If you don't want to drink a lot and many toasts are proposed, sip just a little from your glass."

(All well and good, but what about the hearty practice in the Soviet Union of bottoms up. To decline a toast is to insult one's friends.)

On manners in public—"While talking with someone, there is no need to nudge his arm, slap him on the shoulders or touch the buttons of his jacket."

On dancing—"refrain from gesturing with your free hand and assuring affected poses. Such affectations immediately betray a man's ill taste."

On relations with ladies—"Men must never make the acquaintance of a woman without her permission."

"When walking with a lady friend, don't leave her alone while you chat with a passing acquaintance. Otherwise she may abandon you."

(Even as in the bourgeois West.)

Band-Orchestra Banquet Tonight

The Band-Orchestra Parents Association of Monessen High School will entertain band and orchestra members at a banquet this evening in the Slovak Home.

Bob Arthur, director of the marching band of the University of Pittsburgh, will speak and show movies of the band in action.

Superintendent of Schools Joseph Pallone will act as toastmaster and following the banquet program there will be dancing.

Child Runs into Path of Vehicle

Mary Ann Damiani, 6½, of 416 Ninth St., Monessen, was struck by a car near Sixth St. and Knox Ave. about 6 p. m. yesterday, police reported today.

Reports said the girl darted from between two parked cars into the path of a machine operated by Ned Kunkle, of 664 Knox Ave. The girl ran into the front of the car and was knocked to the street.

She was taken to Charleroi-Monessen Hospital where she was treated for minor injuries and then taken home.

Commencement Program for 111 at Bellmar Last Night

Threat of rain changed the seventh annual Commencement program for the Bellmar High School graduating class last night, but the showers held off and the entire program was finally completed

Bellmarette Joint Schools Supervising Principal Robert VanBremen who is concluding his first year in that capacity presented the diplomas to the 111 graduates after extending his congratulations to the students teachers and families of the graduates

After the processional music played by the Bellmar High School Band under the direction of Ernest Dolfi, the Rev. James C Puz, of the First Baptist Church asked the invocation and High School Principal Raymond Barker extended greetings.

The program took a form of a pageant "With A Song in My Heart" and told the history of American music. Marlene Makepeace, valedictorian, introduced the presentation as the first narrator and took her audience back to the Indian Days in America. The band played Green Sleeves" and a group of sophomore boys enacted a war dance The graduating class sang "Red Wing" and two underclassmen, Maryann Solomon and Jackie Cirillo did an Indian dance

The sophomore boys ensemble included Steve Eversburg, Ed Sichi Larry Rankin Bob Beck Tom Luzanski, Ernest Holler and Vernon Stump drummer

The second narrator, Catherine Runfola, salutatorian, presented the part of the program depicting the influence of other countries on the United States A sophomore sextet, Judy Rizzutto Janet Biagini, Patty Angelo, Andrea Koslosky and Nancy Stura sang 'La Spagnola" and Carole Wasicek an honor student gave a musical reading, 'Friendly Persuasion". The Senior trio, Marjean Clark Elva Corbin and Carla Butler sang Oh Susannah' and 'Clementine'

John Hewitt, honor student was the third narrator and introduced the era preceding the westward trend Barry Hindmarsh played two accordion solos "Deep River' and Swing Low Sweet Chariot" A group of juniors, Bob Rathway Jean Wagner, Ken Waugaman Beverly Green. Tom O'Toole. Carole Lackner, Bill Lofink Sandy Richie Tom Gantner Wilma Grados Dennis Swiantek Judy Snerzniak, Joe Dubinsky, Yvonne Waite Connie Moskala and Herb Vargo did a square dance The sophomore trio Kitty Urban, Paula Barger, and Sandra Turik sang Jeanie With the Light Brown Hair" and "Beautiful Dreamer".

Here an intermission in the pageant was called for the diploma presentation

Georgia Puchsh honor student introduced the fourth part of the program showing the western influence A senior quartet, John Hewitt Barry Miller, Rudy Houseman, class president and Bob Beggs, honor student, sang "Twilight on the Trail' and the class sang "Casey Jones" with John Hewitt as soloist The next music touched on the "Gay Nineties" era with the class singing Down By The Old Mill Stream" and 'When You Wore A Tulip. Ronald Jones played a trumpet solo, "St Louis Blues' and Steward Wells played a trumpet solo, "Birth of the Blues".

The fifth narrator, Carole Wasicek, introduced the contemporary music. The band played "Rosalie' and Darlene Johnston sang 'People Will Say We're in Love". Miss Johnston, an honor student, was soloist when the class sang "Oklahoma". The band played Oh What A Beautiful Morning" and "Surrey With Fringe on Top' Miss Wasicek then introduced the selection One World", which was sang by the class with Byron Carter, soloist and John Hewitt, Marjean Clark and Carla Butler providing the special background

"Alma Mater" and the benediction by the Rev Mr Puz concluded the program and the students formed a receiving line on the field as the band played the recessional

Mary Ann Fryske was the pianist and Mrs. Dorothy Gorio directed the singing Mrs Hazel Hixenbaugh prepared the script and Mr Barker and David McCully were on the commencement committee Mrs Kathryn Vance was one of the faculty sponsors

Other honor students were Mahlon C Hawker, Frances Peroney Betty Roman, Nancy White and Lana G Zubovic.

Mayor Parente Has A Clear Mandate

MAYOR Hugo J. Parente's impressive victory in Tuesday's Democratic primary has to be regarded, it seems to us, as clear public approval both of his administration's ambitions for a better Monessen and of the manner in which the Mayor personally has been pursuing these ambitions.

There is no way, of course, of psychoanalyzing the voters as they march to the polling places. And undoubtedly there were many widely different motives behind the votes which were cast for Mayor Parente.

But we feel safe in saying, nevertheless, that a considerable portion of the Mayor's votes were cast by citizens who had conscientiously decided that Mr. Parente was better able than his opponent, Mr. Stieska, to lead the local government through what could well be the most important era of Monessen's history.

If we are right about this and Mayor Parente owes his renomination largely to voters of this kind, it should be easy for him and his associates at the City Hall to chart a course for the years just ahead. They had a mandate about as clear as they could ask to proceed boldly if prudently to achieve a new look for Monessen in several aspects of community life.

We congratulate Mr. Parente on his victory, and if, as seems likely, it is tantamount to reelection in November, we wish him an interesting and successful administration.

* * *

EXCEPT for the defeat of Councilman David R. Victoria, the entire City Hall slate came through the primary intact.

We do not care for slates — we feel we would get better men in office without them. But even so, the success of the slate is probably further evidence of public satisfaction with affairs as they are at the City Hall.

Nevertheless, we would like to see some occasional signs of individuality and independence, particularly among the members of the Council. When five public officials are acting invariably as one, there is some reason to suspect that only one mind is working. And that is not enough for adequate public understanding and representation.

* * *

WE HAVE one more comment to make on this election in Monessen. And that concerns the complete absence of candidates on the Republican ticket.

It seems to us that this was a disgraceful breakdown of the party system. And we suspect many Republican voters were even more humiliated to be approached by alleged Republican leaders and asked to cast write-in votes for Democratic candidates.

If those who pretend to leadership in the Republican party here cannot do better than this, they ought to turn in their suits and at least preserve their personal honor.

There is nothing sacred about the party system, to be sure. But the cause of good government is the loser when one party fails to propose candidates and its so-called leaders then make themselves available to the opposition.

The County Election

THE PRIMARY election in Westmoreland County was remarkable, it seemed to us, chiefly for independence of the courthouse political machine that was displayed among the Democratic voters.

The machine's judicial candidates, Judge Bauer and District Attorney Sculco, were not at all impressive in overcoming the independent candidacy of Joseph M. Loughran on the Democratic ticket. And they made a very poor showing on the Republican ticket, the GOP nominations going to Robert H. Rial and Avra N. Pershing Jr.

Add to this the defeat of Raymond H. Turner, son of the famed "Buddy", in a contest for the clerk of courts nomination, and you have clear evidence that many Democratic voters have had about all of this machine and its brazen domination that they care to take.

Mr. Rial and Mr. Pershing are both able and attractive candidates, and we sincerely hope they will wage a vigorous campaign to take the common pleas court of Westmoreland County out of the muck of machine politics. The primary returns show that such a campaign is certain to appeal to vast numbers of thinking Democrats as well as Republicans.

There are good prospects for some other interesting contests this fall. Westmoreland County could do with a little more balance in its political and governmental affairs and a lot less of the arrogant bossism that now pervades the courthouse.

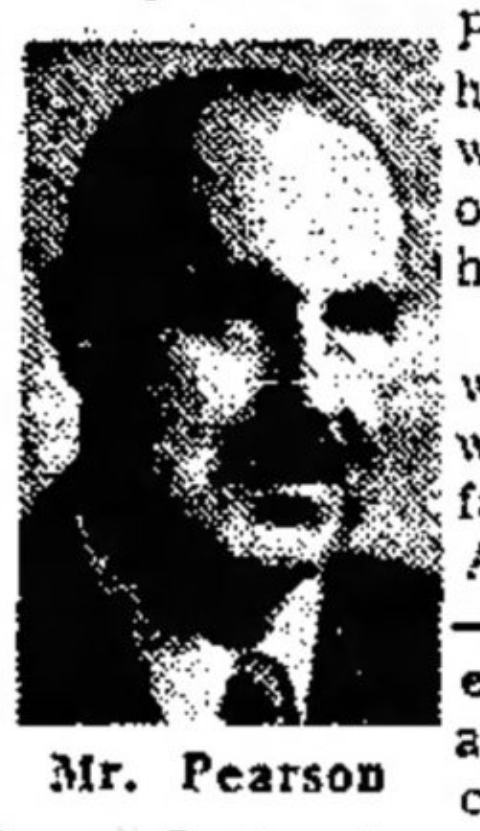
Merry-Go-Round—

Aid Is Cut For Latin America

By DREW PEARSON

WASHINGTON — Highest-level diplomatic conference in 178 years of U. S. diplomatic relations was held last June in Panama. More presidents of sovereign states were gathered there to meet with President Eisenhower than anywhere or at any other time in history.



Mr. Pearson

The meeting was greeted with great fanfare in the Latin American press — fanfare deliberately encouraged by American diplomats. Some Latin American presidents who hung back, doubted the advisability of attending, were urged by U. S. ambassadors to be on deck. When the President was willing to leave his hospital bed after an ileitis operation, it was intimated, big things would be happening in Panama. The trip was not merely to convince the American public that he had recovered, diplomats said.

At Panama, a committee was appointed to carry out the long-range Presidents' Plan for Pan Americanism. The committee was headed by Ike's brother Milton. It held several meetings, and now, 10 months after the momentous event in Panama, it is bringing forth its momentous recommendations.

Smaller Fund

Most Latin American diplomats had figured the United States would at least set up a fund similar to the Near East Doctrine fund to battle Communism and develop Latin America. They watched the money being sent to Poland, Yugoslavia, Saudi Arabia and Southeast Asia, figured a revolving fund of around $100,000,000 was the least that would come out of the unprecedented meeting in Panama.

Instead, an annual total of $3,387,700 is recommended, of which the Latin governments themselves will put up almost half. There is also $19,979,000 to fight malaria over a five-year period, but this is contingent on further negotiations with various organizations.

The projects adopted are healthy and worth while, but the amounts to finance them are considered a drop in the bucket by Latin diplomats. It should not have required a high-powered meeting of the greatest number of presidents ever to convene on the American continent, they say, to put across such a program. It could have been adopted by the Pan American Union itself.

The projects include: $1,100,000 for expanding the Institute of Agriculture at Turrilba, Costa Rica, to study the effect of nuclear energy on agriculture, and for two other agriculture centers to study the diseases of bananas and cocoa in Ecuador and temperate diseases in Uruguay; $275,000 for the study of workers housing; $500,000 additional for scholarships; $120,000 for technical assistance; $210,000 for public relations; and $90,000 for a nuclear energy agency. These are to be annual expenditures — if each government now approves.

Remarked one Latin American ambassador: "We're not Communistic enough to get any real help from the United States."

No Bridge for Panama

When President Eisenhower was in Panama he signed an act of Congress providing for a bridge to be built across the Panama Canal at Balboa.

This bridge had been promised Panamanians for 15 years. Without it they have to ferry across the canal or else cross at the Miraflores Locks several miles away. So there was great rejoicing in Panama when President Eisenhower posed for a special photograph alongside his Panamanian host, President Arias, signing this bill.

Before the signing ceremony, Jules Dubois, Latin American correspondent for the Chicago Tribune, asked President Arias for comment.

"I have to look at the bill," Arias replied. "I don't know whether it's an authorization or an appropriation."

Educated in the United States, the President of Panama knew all too well that there was a big difference between an authorization by Congress and an appropriation by Congress.

After the signing ceremony, Dubois asked:

"Now you've seen the bill. What was it?"

"An authorization," replied Arias.

"What's your comment?"

"Still no comment."

President Arias's skepticism was justified. Last week the House of Representatives in its mad rush for economy chopped out a $1,000,000 appropriation for beginning the Balboa bridge. The people of Panama will have to ferry across the canal for a few more years.

Today and Tomorrow—

The President and Mr. Knowland

By WALTER LIPPMANN

The President is in serious political trouble which stems from a rebellion, one might almost call it a revulsion of feeling, within the Republican party. Suddenly, within the course of about three months, the adulation which was his last autumn has been followed by a general feeling among the professional politicians that it is risky to support Eisenhower and profitable to oppose him.

Mr. Lippmann

Mr. Knowland, the Republican leader in the Senate, is running for President on an anti-Eisenhower platform, and there are only a handful of Republican senators who are standing by the President. The Vice President is proceeding like a submarine in hostile waters, mostly submerged, and when he must come to the surface, he shows as little of himself as possible for anyone to shoot at. The Democrats, who under Sen. Lyndon Johnson used to be such a help to the President, are now acting on the belief that i fit is good politics for Republicans to oppose Eisenhower, it is even better politics for Democrats.

Other Issues Involved

The uprising threatens to go far beyond the attack on the size of the budget. There is, for example, grave danger that Mr. Knowland, seconded by Mr. Hickenlooper, may cause the Senate to humiliate the President by failing to ratify the treaty on the peaceful uses of atomic energy.

If this is done, the Republican senators will be making a horrible mockery of the Republican platform in which they declared that "one leader in the world today towers above all others and inspires the trust, admiration, confidence and good will of all the peoples of every nation — Dwight D. Eisenhower." For they will have invalidated a solemn promise made to the nations of the world by this one leader who towers, etc., etc. . . .

The treaty, which is now in the Senate and should be ratified at this session, would put no burden on the budget. The international agency which the treaty would set up will have some administrative expenses, of which the American share would at the outside be $2,000,000 a year. Nor has the treaty anything to do with the question of "give-aways," that is to say with gifts to foreign governments. The fissionable materials to be delivered by the United States to the international agency will be furnished on a businesss basis and not as a gift. So if ratification fails, it will be because the Republican leadership is opposing the President on a momentous issue of policy, and no because it is trying to reduce the budget.

This would inflict a profound humiliation upon the President, and do great damage to the confidence of the nations of the world in the pledges and promises of the United States government. The history of the treaty provides unanswerable proof that if this treaty is not ratified, the United States government will have misled the 80 nations who have followed the leadership of President Eisenhower.

Embodies Ike's Plan

The treaty, which is known as the Statute of the International Atomic Energy Agency, carries out faithfully the proposals which the President made on Dec. 8, 1953, in his dramatic personal appearance before the General Assembly of the United Nations. He then outlined the functions of the agency which the treaty would establish, and he told the United Nations that "the United States would be more than willing — it would be proud — to take up with others 'principally involved' the development of plans whereby such peaceful uses of atomic energy would be expedited. Of those 'principally involved' the Soviet Union must, of course, be one. I would be prepared to submit to the Congress of the United States, and with every expectation of approval, any such plans. . .

There is no doubt therefore that the present treaty is an American project launched publicly and officially in the presence of the United Nations by the President of the United States. It then took nearly three years to negotiate the treaty, and the representatives of the United States have played a leading part in the negotiations. Last October, the draft of the treaty was adopted unanimously by the conference at the United Nations in which 81 governments, including the Soviet Union, were represented.

Platform Unanimous

President Eisenhower was then a candidate for re-election on a platform, adopted unanimously by the Republican convention. Senator Knowland and Senator Hickenlooper were delegates at the convention and they subscribed to the platform which boasted that "President Eisenhower has inaugurated and led a strong program for developing the peaceful atom — a program which has captured the imagination of men and women everywhere with its widespread, positive achievements."

Just before election the President himself sent a message to the U. N. conference of the 81 nations who had approved the treaty. He said, "I wish my country to be among the first to recognize by official action what you at this conference have accomplished." and he went on to say that once the agency was established the United States would make available to it "nuclear materials that will match in amount the sum of all quantities of such materials made similarly available by all other members of the international agency."

This was a public promise, and so far as I know Senator Knowland did not raise his voice by way of protest or even of caution.

Knowland's Role

The text of the treaty has been discussed for seven months, and now we find that the Republican leader of the Senate has not made up his mind. Yet if he does not make up his mind soon, there is little likelihood that the treaty will be ratified in this session. This will mean that at the least, supposing eventual ratification, the whole project must wait for the better part of a year.

This raises many questions, not the least of them, what are the moral responsibilities of a party leader in the Senate. I know that a senator is the freely elected representative of a sovereign state, a that in the letter of the law he can vote as his conscience or his constituents dictate. But has the leader of a party no obligations beyond those o fan individual Senator? Is the power which he holds because he is the elected leader something which belongs to him personally, or is it a trust which carries with it obligations& Does it not carry with it the obligation to caution the President before he is totally committed to a great project, and if, in matters of the greatest moment liket his treaty, he cannot support the President, is it not then his obligation to resign his leadership?

For certainly it cannot be good public morals for the Republican leader of the Senate to place the President of the United States in a position where, by the action of his own party, he stands in serious danger of being repudiated and humiliated in the presence of all the world.

National Affairs—

'Citizens for Ike' to Be Active Next Year

By LYLE C. WILSON

WASHINGTON (UP)—The politically off-beat organization known as Citizens - for - Eisenhower has money in the bank and plans to spend a lot of it in next year's congressional campaign.

Mr. Wilson

C-for-E was set up in 1952 with two objectives. It reached both. They were (1) to raise money from sources which regular Republican organizations could not tap and (2) to rally voters who might not respond to regular Republican campaign efforts.

The events of 1958 will prove, of course, whether C-for-E campaigning is on the professional or the amateur beam. On the amateur beam, the organization might use its funds in an effort to defeat some of the congressional Republicans who have been opposing the President.

Won't Be So

The United Press informed that Citizens - for - Eisenhower would not be so engaged in 1958. Three notable Republican senators who often have given Eisenhower the back of their hands will be up for reelection next year. They are:

Sens. John W. Bricker (Ohio), William E. Jenner (Ind.) and George W. Malone (Nev.). These men are conservatives, who spurn new party labels such as the modern Republicanism with which the President seeks to re-christen his party.

As of now, however, it is not likely that Citizens-for -Eisenhower money and efforts will be used against these senators or against any Republican candidates next year. The organization's purpose, instead, is to devote its funds and efforts solely to the election of Republicans more closely associated with the White House program.

It will be an all-out, big money effort, from which candidates such as Bricker or Jenner, for example, would benefit indirectly. For every dollar contributed by C-for-E to the election of an Eisenhower Republican candidate would free regular party funds to help any or all other Republican candidates.

Political Dollars Short

There is a political saying to the effect that money may not be everything, but it is way ahead of whatever may be in second place. Regular Republican and Democratic organizations are having trouble now raising funds. Republican regional meetings reflect that. Several Republican state chairmen reported last weekend in Cincinnati that they were having difficulty getting up the money. They attributed this in considerable part to grass roots dissatisfaction with the Eisenhower budget.

Citizens - for - Eisenhower has $200,000 banked in New York. C-for-E came out of the 1956 campaign with 141 sub-organizations throughout the United States. The combined resources of the parent and subsidiary organizations is about one million dollars with more to be raised.

That money, professionally administered, will be a campaign factor next year.

Insists General Lee's Course Was Honorable

To the Editor:

In view of your editorial on Robert E. Lee written at the time of issuance of the Lee commemorative stamp, I was not surprised at the content of your column on Saturday, May 18.

I have never read anything anywhere that substantiates your point of view.

Lee was not a rabid successionist. His native Virginia was not one of the original seceding states. Facts indicate that even after the break he made his choice of service with considerable reluctance.

The question of the relative rights of the federal government over those of the states was not as firmly delineated at the outbreak of the Civil War as it is now. There were honorable men advocating both sides of the question. The Civil War itself decided that the Union was indissoluble by any of its members and while any present day West Pointer who would choose to aid in a break from the Union would be guilty of treason, the situation in 1860 was vastly different. Lee's choice of defending states' rights was in no way inconsistent with his West Point vows.

Respected Each Other

There were West Point educated Southerners on both sides of the war between the states, and while each must have been without honor in the eyes of some, I have found nothing to indicate that they did not respect each other's right of decision.

Grant's liberal treatment of Lee and his officers at Appomatox is an indication that he, at least, did not regard his fellow West Pointer as a traitor.

Robert E. Lee may have been a tragic figure but certainly not a pitiable one. He was possessed of a dignity that makes pity unnecessary.

There is a vast difference between sentimentality and sensitivity, and it seems to me that you have accused those who revere Lee of the first when they are moved by the second quality.

I believe they honor Lee as a man who conducted himself with dignity and honor where both must have been difficult to maintain.

While I do not agree with President Eisenhower in his choice of Lee as one of the four greatest Americans of the past, I feel that bracketing his name with those of Benedict Arnold and Alger Hiss is even more ill considered.

I, myself, am a second generation American whose family has always lived in the northern part of our country. I had no ancestors fighting on either side of the Civil War. This letter is written in an effort to present an unbiased and opposing point of view from your own.

I have taken the liberty of sending a copy of your article and one of this letter to Mr. Bruce Catton, editor of American Heritage Magazine and author of the recently published history of the Civil War, "This Hallowed Ground", in hope of further clarification.

Marjorie A. Farr
1421 Graham Ave.

(Editor's Note — When Lee accepted his commission in the U. S. Army, he swore to "preserve, protect and defend" the United States. He was never excused from that obligation by any due process. Grant's generosity at Appomattox was pure military chivalry. Under the law, Lee was a war criminal and, like Jefferson Davis, president of the Confederacy, was subject to arrest and imprisonment. The column in question did not deny Lee's qualities as a person nor did it argue that he should have been punished. It merely attempted to refute President Eisenhower's characterization of Lee as a "great American.")

Letters to the editor on subjects of general interest are always welcome. They should be brief and must be signed by the writer and carry his address. In circumstances where personalities might confuse the issue, the signature may be withheld from publication. But unsigned letters are ignored.

Program Presented For Catholic BPW

Plans for several future activities and a program of entertainment highlighted last night's dinner meeting of Our Lady of Fatima chapter of the Greensburg Diocesan Catholic Business and Professional Women's Club. It was held at the Park Casino.

Pink rosebuds decorated the tables and the individual covers were marked with Madonna cards and a medal of Our Lady of Fatima.

During the business session an invitation was read from the Greensburg chapter to attend the installation of officers there on June 25. Those who plan to attend must make reservations by June 15 with the president, Mrs. H. C. Behrendt.

To Attend Retreat

Reservations for the Catholic BPW retreat to be held at St. Emma's Retreat House in Greensburg, June 14, 15 and 16 should be made by May 22 with Lee Kolvek. The Rev. James Hannan, OFM, Cap., will be the retreat master.

The club members will receive Holy Communion in a body on Sunday morning, June 30, at the 9:15 mass at the Most Holy Name of Jesus Church.

Ann Grbin reported on the installation of the new chapter of the organization in Vangergrift and Mrs. Behrendt reported on the Guest Night, which was sponsored by the Catholic Women's College Club at California earlier this month.

Mrs. Theresa Parise, of Belle Vernon, was welcomed as a new member.

Guest Speaker

Guest speaker for the evening was the Rev. Stephen Drab, assistant priest at Holy Name Church, who gave an informative talk about problems faced by the Catholic people in a communist country.

Under the direction of Mrs. Mary Sassak a group of girls from the Slovak Catholic Sokols presented calisthenic drills, "Our Lady of Fatima" and "May Flowers". Girls taking part were Gerry Baron, Camille Chovan, Clarie Kovach, Carol Ann Janus, Ann L. Kamenicky, Camile Fayer and Olivia Tesack.

Surprise awards were presented to Marily Mealy and Joanne Galaski.

The committee in charge was composed of Mary Sassak, chairman, Mary Haradin, Betty Gallik, Eleanor Check and Alberta Stima.

The final meeting of the year will be a family picnic to be held at the Dudas cabin with Virginia Dudas as chairman.

LOCALS

Mary Agnes Poye Becomes Bride of William Striker

Announcement is being made of the marriage of Mary Agnes Poye, daughter of Mr. and Mrs Tony Poye, of Ellsworth, to William Vance Striker, son of Mrs Eleanor Striker, of West Newton.

The ceremony was solemnized at St. Luke R. C. Church of Bentleyville, Saturday, May 4. The Rev. Thomas Walsh officiated at the double ring ceremony at 10 a. m.

The bride entered the church on the arm of her father, who gave her in marriage. She was attired in a white silk taffeta gown designed with a long torso fashioned with a sabrina neckline edged with French imported lace sprinkled with sequins and seed pearls. The bouffant skirt ended in a chapel sweep. Her veil of sheer illusion was held to a hat of French lace trimmed with sequins and pearls. Her flowers were a cascade arrangement of white carnations with an orchid center.

Maid of Honor

Maid of honor was Kathleen Kennedy, of Ellsworth, who wore a blue chiffon gown styled floor length with a fitted bodice over which was a shawl collar accented with seed pearls. Her skirt was bouffant in fashion.

Mary Ann Vecchi, of Bridgeville, was bridesmaid and she chose for her attire a similar gown of yellow chiffon. The junior bridesmaid was Nancy Jane Hershberger, of Greensburg, the bridegroom's cousin. Her gown was of yellow crystalette and net. All of the attendants carried identical cascade arrangements of pink and white carnations.

Joseph Lux, of West Newton, served as best man and ushers were George Stevenson, of West Newton and Joseph Poye, of Ellsworth, brother of the bride.

Following the ceremony there was a wedding breakfast at the Polish Hall in Bentleyville. Later there was a reception and dinner there.

When the couple left for a short wedding trip the bride was wearing a lilac colored sheath dress with a black duster and black accessories.

Mothers Attend

For her daughter's wedding, Mrs. Poye selected a beige lace dress with black accessories and the bridegroom's mother wore light blue lace with pink accessories. Both wore corsages of white symbidium orchids.

Guests attended from this area and from Bay Shore, Long Island, Washington, D. C. and Detroit, Mich.

The bride was graduated from Ellsworth High School and Duff's Iron City Business School, Pittsburgh. Her husband was graduated from West Newton High School and is employed at Firth Sterling.

Wedding of Area Interest Takes Place in Texas

A marriage of interest in this district has just been announced. Sally Anne McIntosh, of Jacinto City, Texas, became the bride of Raymond Culley Roberts, of Rockport, Texas, on Friday, May 3.

The ceremony took place at the rectory of St. Anne's Church in Houston, Texas.

The bride is the daughter of Mr. and Mrs. James McIntosh. Mrs. McIntosh was formerly Margaret Sale, of Belle Vernon, while Mr. McIntosh, who was reared in Roscoe, lived in both Charleroi and Monessen

Given in marriage by her father, the bride was attired in a gown of pale blue taffeta with a net over dress. She carried a handkerchief, which had been carried by both her mother and grandmother at their weddings. Her accessories and flowers harmonized with her gown.

Matron of Honor

Mrs. Michael Boatright, of Pasadena, Texas, attended the bride as matron of honor and James Earthman, of Houston, was the best man.

After the ceremony there was a reception held at the home of the newly married couple at 616 Albany St., Houston. There were about 100 guests in attendance from Galveston, Houston, Trinity, Rockport, Pasadena and Jacinto City.

The bride is a student nurse at Memorial Hospital in Houston and her husband is serving his apprenticeship at a mortuary in Houston.

Mrs. Elsie Sale, of Baltimore, Md., formerly of Belle Vernon, is the bride's maternal grandmother.

Quinn-Sarber Marriage Is Announced Here

Announcement has been made of the marriage of Janice Quinn, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Quinn, of Monessen, to Lanny Sarber, which took place recently in a quiet nuptial ceremony. Mr. Sarber is the son of Mrs. Dorothy Sarber, of Fellsburg.

Both young people were graduated from Rostraver High School and the bride is employed by the Bell Telephone Co. of Charleroi. The bridegroom has returned to his base in Mississippi after spending a furlough with his wife.

New Officers Installed at Valley Art Club Session

Mrs. Laura Strauser, of North Charleroi, was installed as president of the Monongahela Valley Art Club at a meeting held in Monongahela on Monday evening. This is the second time since the formation of the valley group that a Charleroi member has held the presidency.

This also indicates that the annual Spring Art Exhibit will be held next year at Charleroi.

The installation ceremonies were conducted by Mrs. Dorothy Compton, of Donora, retiring president. Other officers installed along with Mrs. Strauser were Mrs. Ruth Mountain, of Monongahela, vice president; Mrs. Laura Diaz, of North Charleroi, recording secretary; Mrs. Pansy Harvey, of Monessen, treasurer and Mary Tomer, Donora, corresponding secretary.

Plan Program

While the club is not meeting in regular session in the summer it will be the task of the vice president, Mrs. Mountain, to compile the 1957-58 yearbooks for the club members and Mrs. Strauser will appoint her committees.

In June a covered dish dinner will be planned for the home of Mrs. Edythe Cohen, of Maple View. Mrs. Cohen is a past president of the club.

A social hour followed the meeting and there were reports of the recent Art Exhibit held in the Donora Methodist Church. The exhibit attracted a large crowd of valley people and patrons of art from the participating communities purchased paintings to be hung in some public building. Monessen members were active in the exhibit.

Troop 23 Girl Scouts Plan For Cook-out

The Girl Scouts of Troop 23 met on Monday evening at St. Paul Lutheran Church for a regular business session.

Plans were made for a cook out to be held as the highlight of the meeting on Monday, June 3. It was also decided to dispense with the regular meeting on May 27.

The Cardettes Are Entertained In Webster

The Cardettes were entertained on Monday evening at the home of Sadie Boyd, in Webster.

Two tables of five hundred were in play and receiving the high awards were Mrs. Helen Revak, Mrs. Boyd and Anna Popella.

Luncheon was served and Violet Drahobecky, of Knox Ave., was named next hostess.

To Name Greensburg Coach in June

In Greensburg, the School Board has decided to wait another month before naming a basketball coach. However the field has been trimmed from 27 applicants to James Sibley, Charles Daly, William Douglass, Ralph Forquer and Lyman Stough. All of the remaining candidates will be interviewed before a decision is reached, probably on June 5 . . . Jan Sikorsky, the Ramsay boy who set a new javelin record in the recent WPIAL meet, didn't even have a pair of track shoes until a couple of weeks ago. Don Mollenauer, coach of the Mt. Lebanon trackers, provided him with a better-balanced javelin for the WPIAL event and Sikorsky responded with his record toss of 222 feet 3 4 inches.

Explains Fund for Gus Brickner

Bill Richards, the Charleroi newsman who is acting as manager of swimmer Gus Brickner, says that the public subscription for Gus' Channel attempt will continue. Says Richards: "Brickner's sponsors — the owners of Spillway Lake — have offered to back Gus up to $5,500. That is figuring expenses at a bare minimum. We'd like to have a little more money to work with to take care of any emergency. Of course, all organizations who have contributed up to now will have their money returned since it was accepted with the understanding that Gus would rely solely on them. We'll ask these groups to 'redonate' the money to take care of incidental expenses. Gus will spend only what is necessary and we'll naturally make a strict accounting of all expenses."

Today's Sports Parade—

Most Travelled Man Is Texas Sportsman

By OSCAR FRALEY

NEW YORK (UP) — The most widely-traveled athlete in the world is a tall, handsome Texan named Billy Welu, who this year will travel more than 150,000 miles giving bowling exhibitions.

Billy was in New Jersey Wednesday. Today he is in San Francisco. Two days later he'll be in Oklahoma City and shortly after that he'll be in Detroit.

"Sure glad now I decided against either baseball or golf," smiles the 6-foot, 4-inch 220 pounder. "I just love to travel and imagine how dull it would be spending a week in one town."

Billy, only 25 years old, could have made the grade as a catcher or a pro golfer when he left the University of St. Thomas in his native Houston. He was a big hitter in both sports and a scratch golfer at 17.

Never Sorry For Choice

"But I decided you last longer in bowling and besides," he says, "while I was in school I could bowl every night and keep my hand in. So bowling it was and I've never been sorry for a moment."

He shouldn't be. Now a touring exhibitionist for AMF, the relaxed easy-going young giant bowled with the national match game champions in 1954-55 and 1955-56, won the ABC doubles in 1954 and was on bowling's All-America team in 1955.

Taking his B.A. degree in 1954 Billy had to decide which way his athletic inclinations led and that's when bowling won out. He hooked on with a top St. Louis team and knew he had made a fortunate choice when, in his first year, he earned better than $10,000.

You have to really be able to bowl to roll up that kind of money. Billy can. He rolled a three-game high of 300-267-266—883. his 806 series is the second highest ever rolled on television and right now he has a total of 10 perfect 300 games.

A Memorable Occasion

"A potential 300 game produced one of the funniest things that ever happened to me," he laughs in retrospect. "There was an alley in St. Louis where I worked out a great deal and I never had rolled 300 there.

"One afternoon I rolled 11 straight strikes and needed only one more for my perfect game," he added. "But as I began my approach, the heating duct over the lane broke and I was blinded by a face full of soot. The ball rolled in the gutter—and there went my 300."

Billy Welu can laugh at a memory which would turn most bowlers purple. After all, there are a lot more 300 games in the wood for this young fellow and, as he says, you can't beat the change of scenery.

MHS Tennis Team Is Beaten

Latrobe Hi Nips Locals In Playoffs

Favored Latrobe High eliminated Monessen from the WPIAL tennis tournament yesterday but not before a gruelling match.

It took five and a half hours for the Wildcats to handle Monessen, 3-2, on the Mt. Lebanon courts.

Walter Berberich, the WPIAL singles champion, and Joe Kurey, Monessen's ace, staged a spectacular match. Berberich, a canny senior, relied on his experience to pull the contest out after Kurey seemed to have things his way.

Jim Baker, the other Monessen star, lived up to his job, easily romping home. Baker and the tired Kurey then teamed to win their doubles bout in another marathon.

These were the only two Monessen successes.

Couldn't Hold Lead

The match was lost when Kurey couldn't keep his edge over Berberich. Joe, a junior, beat the champ in their first set, 8-6. He lost the second, 3-6.

Then in the deciding contest, Kurey piled up a 4-1 lead. At that point, Berberich played a splendid defensive game to pull the set out, 7-5.

Baker had no trouble with Mark Witkin, winning, 6-1 and 6-1.

Tom Senior was too tricky for Monessen's Ron D'Angelo in the third singles match, winning, 6-4 and 6-2.

Kurey and Baker had real trouble with Senior and Witkin in their doubles match. Obviously tired, Kurey was not up to par but he and Baker held on to win, 7-5, 5-7 and 8-6.

In the other doubles fray, Berberich and Tom Harvey took D'Alessio and George Selelyo, 6-1 and 6-1.

In Title Match

By winning, Latrobe advanced to a title match with Mt. Lebanon next Tuesday at Tarentum. The Mounties moved on by defeating Tarentum, 5-0, yesterday.

Tomorrow Monessen's fine doubles team of Kurey and Baker will represent the WPIAL in the statewide playoffs at Penn State. Berberich will take part in the singles tournament.

Latrobe 3, Monessen 2

Walter Berberich, L, defeated Joe Kurey, M, 6-8,6-3, and 7-5

Jim Baker, M, defeated Mark Witkin, L, 6-1 and 6-1

Tom Senior, L, defeated Ron D'Angelo, 6-4 and 6-2.

Kurey and Baker, M, defeated Senior and Witkin, 7-5, 5-7, and 8-6.

Berberich and Harvey, L, defeated D'Alessio and George Selelyo, 6-1 and 6-1.

Semi-Finals in Steel Bowling Tourney Tonight

Semi-final action in the Pittsburgh Steel championship bowling tournament will take place tonight at the new CIO alleys.

Blooming Mill Millwrights will meet Open Hearth Floor in one match, while Blooming Mill Electric will take on Blast Furnace Electric in another. The activity will begin at 6 30 p. m.

Those teams advanced last night in quarter-final contests, which produced these results:

Open Hearth Floor eliminated Rod Mill in two straight games. John Zdilla rolled 168-317 for the winners while James Teska was high for Rod Mill with 174-334.

Blooming Mill Electric defeated Field Fence in two straight tussles. Nick Tonini paced the winners with 204-389 while Steve Sabolcheck had 153-282 for the losers.

Blooming Mill Millwrights handled Open Hearth Riggers in two games behind Bob Kayda's 154-298 chart. High for the Riggers was Sage Salay wit h160-508.

And Blast Furnace Electric defeated Bundling Room in a best-of-three series. Bundling won the first game but lost the next two. John Mullens had 161-433 for the winners while John Biaolour led the losers with 167-470.

Baseball Umps Meet Tomorrow

The Mon Valley Umpires Association will meet Friday at 9:15 p. m. in the Ravens Club.

Secretary George Kuvinka said it is important for all members to be present.

300 Attend Little League Banquet

Brooklyn baseball scout Jim Russell "marvelled" at the wonderful opportunities afforded modern youth in his remarks at the second annual kickoff banquet of the Monessen Little League last night.

About 300 persons listened to the former Pirate, Dodger and Brave outfielder in his address at the Slovak Home.

He urged the youngsters to make the most of their opportunities and to respect their parents for providing them.

Dr. Joseph J. Pallone, superintendent of Monessen schools, said he "couldn't praise the managers enough for their work in this league and I take my hat off to them."

Dr. Pallone pointed out that "working with youth will keep us young."

Pfeister Thanks All

Recreation Director Stephen Pfeister thanked all of the individuals connected with Little League ball for their time and effort.

Also offering remarks were past Little League presidents Joseph Waggoner and Robert Cina.

Toastmaster Tom Preston suggested during the course of the banquet that the youngster take Tommy Henrich, the former Yankee as their idol. Henrich started his baseball career in Monessen.

The invocation was by Rev. Lester M. Crum, pastor of the United Evangelical Brethren Church.

A highlight of the evening was the presentation of lapel pins to graduating Little Leaguers.

Little League Grads

Receiving the awards were Michael Nicksich, Allen Lesher, Francis Harrington, Ronald Hornack and Thomas Evans, of the Lions.

Delbert Myrga, Andrew Kerestes, Jr., Ted Darby, Don Kerns and David Manderino, of Local 1229.

Richard Senko, Walter Rozycki, Anthony Vitale, John Barilla and Ronald Yohe of American Legion.

Rodger Crum, Edward Ratica, Charles Stevenson, Ronald Gins and Bernard Glogosh, of the Elks.

Kenneth DiGiacomo, William Malinchak, Michael Magura, Marvin Dolan and John Bachisn, of Park Service.

Lee Laszewski, Thomas Felgar, Vernon Smith, David Sivak and James Nicholaus, of VFW.

Robert Hornack, Edward Skurkay, Philip Reed, Tom Battiste and William Morrison, of the Ravens.

WPIAL Baseball Games Postponed

Three games scheduled yesterday in the WPIAL baseball elimination tourney were postponed because of wet grounds and were rescheduled for tomorrow.

Freeport plays Elizabeth at East Deer, Munhall meets Scott Township at Dormont and Wilkinsburg plays Trafford at Munhall.

Brownsville's Section 18 winners, victors over Waynesburg and Charleroi, mark time, meeting the Wilkinsburg-Trafford survivor.

A chupatty is an Anglo-Indian word for an unleavened cake of bread.

Softball Umps To Meet Tonight

There will be an important meeting of the Monessen Softball Umpires Association tonight at 8 p. m. in Club 20.

All members are urged to be present for the important session.

PNA Handles Myfords, 5-1, in City Softball

PNA finally got its City Softball League season underway last night, tripping the Myfords, 5-1, at City Park.

Paul Petrusky was the hitting and pitching star.

He fashioned a neat five hitter and had a shutout until the sixth inning. At bat, Petrusky collected a double and two singles.

The Myfords lone tally came when Jack Shepler doubled and Tony Turcaso singled him home.

A nice crowd watched the well-played contest, which took only an hour and 15 minutes to complete.

Tonight's City League attraction will send the Cro-Ams against MPSA.

Donora Third in Jr. WPIAL Track

PITTSBURGH (UP)—West Mifflin placed first, second and third in the lightweight and open class pole vault events Wednesday to capture the Junior WPIAL track and field championship at Mount Lebanon High Stadium.

West Mifflin piled up 53 points, more than twice the 25¼ scored by runner-up McKeesport.

Bobby Blotzer, of West Mifflin, set the only record when he vaulted 10 feet, 5⅛ inches in the lightweight (115 pounds and under) class. The mark exceeded the winning height in the open class.

Other team totals:

Donora 24½, Uniontown 21¾, Mount Lebanon 20¾, Connellsville 19¼, Whitehall 17½, Charleroi 14, Wilkinsburg 13, Rosedale Penn 10.

Rosedale Penn was defending champion.

Monessen Takes Third Straight Beating in MVL

The slumping Monessen Ozarks lost their third straight game last night, bowing to Donora, 4-1, at Ninth Street Park.

But there was something to be happy about, too.

Myron Sepitko, the Monessen High junior, started his first game and tossed a fine three-hitter for the Ozarks. Unhappily he committed two costly throwing errors to ruin his own effort.

However Sepitko made it clear that he'll give the Ozarks some real pitching help this season.

Once again Monessen fielded a patched-up lineup which certainly missed sluggers Bob Mastracci and Ron Danko.

As a result, the Ozarks could solve Donora hurler John Chatlak for only four hits. Chatlak fanned nine.

Tonight the sagging Monessen forces meet Fayette City at Ninth Street.

Screwy Play

In last night's contest, Donora opened the scoring in the second inning on a screwy play.

Rich Sacane opened the inning with a walk. Sepitko fielded Ed Kikla's bunt but tossed wildly by first. Second baseman Jerry Destefano backed up the play and nabbed Sacane going to third. A sacrifice fly moved Kikla to third.

At that point a pitch by Sepitko got away from Catcher Neil Hill and rolled under the pipe of the backstop. Umpire Al Crompton waved in the runner.

That caused a real dispute and Bill Mitnick, who was coaching at first, was ordered to leave the field. All of which prevented Mitnick from appearing in his seventh straight MVL game as a pitcher.

Quinto Homers

In the fourth inning Ron Quinto slammed a home run over the centerfield fence to give Donora a 2-0 lead.

A walk and throwing error by Sepitko gave the Donorans another run in the fifth. Three walks and a single gave the Ozarks a run in their half of the inning.

Donora added an insurance marker in the seventh on a single, stolen base and double by Chatlak.

Fayette City Tops Van Voorhis, 7-2

Fayette City tripped Van Voorhis, 7-2, last night in Mon Valley League action behind nifty two hit pitching by Don Young.

The talented southpaw had a shutout until the final inning when the Vans touched him for a pair of tallies.

Henry Studnicki led the winners at bat with a homer and double. Harry Muckle chipped in with a pair of hits, including a two-bagger.

DOCTORING YOUR GOLF

By CARY MIDDLECOFF

When to Two-Wood

One foolish chance taken by many golfers is trying to make a shot with a two-wood when the lie calls for a three-wood or a four-wood.

There are two good ways of determining whether to use the two-wood. One is to set the clubhead down directly behind the ball and check to see whether the whole of the clubface can be brought into contact with the ball without interference. If so, you will be correct in taking the two-wood and going for maximum distance.

The second way is to examine your own thinking in the matter. If you have any doubts about the two-wood being the proper club for the shot, resolve the doubt in favor of the three-wood or the four-wood. A two-wood from the fairway can be a fairly tricky shot. It calls for full confidence in the swinger and for an exceptionally good lie.

Lightweight Is Top Flight Golfer

UNIVERSITY PARK, Pa. (UP) — Johnny Felus of Gallitzin, Pa., has found a sport where size makes little difference. The five-foot-three inch 135-pounder toured the 6.055-yard Penn State University competitive course in a record four-under-par 65 against Colgate.

Panthers, Dukes Both Recruiting

And Prospects Look Bright, Too; Pitt to Have Bigger Frosh Eleven

PITTSBURGH (UP) — Pitt is doing okay in its football recruiting program, despite talk about the school heading down the road to football "mediocrity."

And Duquesne isn't doing bad in basketball recruiting, either.

That was the gist of some observations made Wednesday by Frank Carver, Pitt's graduate manager of athletics, and Duquesne basketball coach Dudey Moore.

Carver said Pitt coaches reported recruitment "is coming along fine."

"It looks as though we'll get some fine boys and probably we'll have more than the usual 17 or 18 players on our freshman team," he said.

The fears about Pitt's football future were voiced in an article in the student newspaper by Steve Butchok, sports editor. He had written that Chancellor Edward H. Litchfield, by tightening academic requirements, has started the school, down the road "from athletic greatness to athletic mediocrity."

High Ranking

If Pitt is to be ranked academically with Harvard, "we almost certainly have to be ranked athletically with Harvard," Butchok wrote.

Athletic Director Tom Hamilton admitted higher scholastic standards would cost the school some "top boys," but said "I think our record is a pretty good indication that we can compete athletically and still keep our standards high academically."

Duquesne's Moore, discussing new basketball prospects, said Ned Twyman, former Pittsburgh Central Catholic star who spent one semester at Notre Dame, and Bob Slobodnik, of Har-Brack High, appear definitely bound for Duquesne. Twyman is a brother of Jack Twyman of the professional Cincinnati Royals.

Moore also said the chances were "pretty good" that Lou Brown, star at St. Michael's High, Jersey City, N.J., would enroll at Duquesne. He said he talked to Brown by telephone last Saturday. Brown had been sought by Coach Frank McGuire of North Carolina, national college basketball champion.

"Things don't look too bad," Moore said.

Pirates, Cards Are Rained Out

ST. LOUIS (UP)—The Pittsburgh Pirates, idled by bad weather since Sunday, headed for Philadelphia today and a four-game series with the Phillies.

The Pirates' visit here turned out to be unnecessary. Their scheduled games with the Cardinals Tuesday and Wednesday nights were rained out.

The Pirates and Phillies open their series Friday night.

General Manager Joe L. Brown talked with Wid Mathews, personnel coordinator for the Milwaukee Braves, during the layover here and said Mathews "had something in particular in mind, but I too greatly interested."

Brown named no names but it was believed Mathews made another pitch for Frank Thomas.

The Pirates announced Wednesday the signing of Godfrey Johnson, an 18-year-old righthanded pitcher from Nassau, Bahamas, to a contract with Clinton in the Class D Midwest League. Johnson has never seen a major league game except on television.

Bradford Drops From League

BRADFORD, Pa. (UP) — The Bradford Blue Sox, beset by financial woes, dropped out of the Class D New York-Pennsylvania Baseball League Wednesday.

The league said an attempt would be made to move the franchise to Hornell, N.Y.

Klippstein Continues to Dog Dodgers as Cincy Wins, 8-1

By FRED DOWN

Johnny Klippstein, an ex-farmhand who never got a chance to make the grade in Brooklyn, has the Dodgers convinced today he's definitely "big league."

Klippstein, who was drafted out of the Dodgers' vast farm system back in 1950, has come back to haunt them with no less than eight victories in the last three years. He came through Wednesday night with a nifty five-hitter that gave the Cincinnati Redlegs an 8-1 triumph over the National League champions.

It was a key victory for the Redlegs because it snapped the Dodgers' five-game winning streak and dropped Brooklyn into third place. It enabled the Redlegs to retain their game and a half lead over the Milwaukee Braves, who scored a 4-3, 13-inning triumph over the Philadelphia Phillies.

The New York Giants edged out the Chicago Cubs, 4-3, in the only other National League activity. The Chicago White Sox made it two in a row over the New York Yankees, 8-4, the Boston Red Sox tied a league record of four homers in one inning as they routed the Cleveland Indians, 11-0, the Baltimore Orioles nipped the Detroit Tigers, 4-3, in 10 innings and the Kansas City Athletics whipped the Washington Senators, 8-6, in the American League.

Rain Delays Play

Klippstein, who had an 0-3 record and was kayoed in his four previous starts, turned in one of the best games by a Redleg pitcher this year. He yielded the Dodgers' run in the second inning but shut them out with two hits after play was halted by rain for an hour and 42 minutes in the middle of the fifth inning.

The Braves pulled out their game with the Phillies, after trailing 3-0, on the wings of a three-run homer by Ed Mathews in the fifth and Chuck Tanner's first round-tripper of the year in the 13th. The blows, 11th and 12th homers off Robin Roberts this season, were backed up by strong Milwaukee relief pitching, which shut out the Phillies the last eight innings. Rookie Juan Pizarro, who took over in the 12th, won his second game while the loss was Roberts' fifth. He has three victories.

Red Schoendienst's ninth inning single following a double by Daryl Spencer gave the Giants their victory after a homer by Dale Long produced a 3-3 tie in the sixth. Relief pitcher Al Worthington won his third decision while Bob Rush suffered his fifth straight loss of the season.

Wilson Wins No. 5

Jim Wilson, 35-year old righthander, went the distance for his fifth win as the go-go White Sox took advantage of two errors by Billy Martin and a three-base muff by Mickey Mantle to score five unearned runs and stretch their winning streak to nine straight games. The victory stretched the White Sox' first-place lead to three games and dropped the slumping Yankees four games off the AL pace.

Gene Mauch, Ted Williams, Dick Gernert and Frank Malzone all homered in the sixth inning, tying the AL record for one inning and making it easy for Tom Brewer to breeze to his sixth win for the Red Sox. Cal McLish was the victim of the four homers—a major league mark for round - trippers off one pitcher in an inning.

Pinch - hitter Al Pilarcik's scratch hit scored Tito Francona with the winning run for the Orioles. George Zuverink gained the decision in relief while Frank Lary, appearing in relief for the first time this year, suffered his sixth loss compared to two wins.

Gus Zernial ended the Athletics' string of 29 consecutive scoreless innings with a two-run first-inning homer and paved the way for Alex Kellner to win his first game. Zernial also homered in the seventh for the Athletics and Vic Power connected for his third Roy Sievers hit No. 9 and Jim Lemon No. 2 for the Senators.

Palmer to Tour Ligonier Course

LIGONIER, Pa. (UP) — Arnold Palmer, who took a recess from the summer pro golf tour to play in the West Penn Open which he won last Monday, next month will take time again to play in another district tournament.

The Latrobe pro will compete with 19 other district club pros in the pro-three member tournament at Ligonier Country Club June 2.

Nine Area Boys Headed for Penn

PITTSBURGH (UP)—The University of Pennsylvania, which plays Ivy League football, appears to have a liking for Western Pennsylvania football talent.

The Philadelphia school has granted academic scholarships to nine WPIAL football players, all from different schools. They include five backs, two guards, one end and one tackle.

The players, who will enroll at Penn next fall, are: Phil McCleery, end, Jeannette; Ron Miller, back, Sharon; Bob George, back, Centerville; Dan Gee, back, Brentwood; Paul Wellener, guard, Baldwin; Charles Bracken, guard, Mount Lebanon; Doug Brumbaugh, tackle, Har-Brack,; Joe DeNiero, back, Redstone, and Tom Drake, back, Greensburg.

Work Underway on Dutch Fork Lake

Construction of 91-acre Dutch Fork Lake, near Claysville in Washington County, is now underway.

The long-heralded project started last Friday when R. Stanley Smith, president of the state Fish Commission, turned the first earth at the site just off of Route 40.

In a talk preceding the ground breaking, Commissioner Smith complimented the Washington County officials and sportsmen for their efforts and cooperation in bringing the project to this point. He also pointed to the prospect of soon acquiring another lake — the so-called 80 acre Alcoa Dam near Canonsburg.

At the same time, he warned that unless the Fish Commission is granted a substantial license increase by the present Legislature, the Commission will be forced into a sharp reduction in all activities, including the successful management of just such waters as the new lake represents.

Costs Are Up

"Costs of the goods and services we use in our business have gone up just as they have in every other line of endeavor," said Smith. "We find our costs today are from 100 to 400 per cent higher than ten years ago. At the same time, our license revenue has increased only 67 per cent.

"Whether we are able to improve fishing opportunity for the public or must cut back is the big issue at the moment.

"Without more money in the form of a license increase, we will have to close the famous Fisherman's Paradise at Bellefonte, close down one or more hatcheries, and reduce practically every activity in which we engage. This can result in only one thing: Poorer fishing, instead of better, for Pennsylvanians."

In an earlier talk, William Voigt Jr., Executive Director of the Commission, repeated his urging of a year ago here, when he inspected the site, that the township supervisors proceed as quickly as practical to zone the area surrounding the new lake, to prevent the growth of a "honkytonk" type of development there.

Keep It Clean

"You people want this lake area to remain clean and beautiful and attractive for yourselves and your families to enjoy. This can be done only if the right steps are taken now, by the supervisors, to zone the place and prevent undesirable development," he said

Present also was Thomas F O'Hara of Pleasant Gap, chief engineer of the Fish Commission, and a crew of key men, who staked out the area and stayed on to finish the details, preliminary to getting men and equipment on the site for the actual construction which is expected to be completed by the end of summer in 1958, and should begin to provide fishing by 1959.

Other specifications of the Dutch Fork project are as follows. Expected water surface area — 91 acres; shoreline — 4 miles; average width — 356 feet; average depth — 13 feet; maximum depth — 24 feet; storage capacity (normal pool) — 280 million gallons; length of dam breast — 460 feet; length of spillway, including stilling basin — 180 feet; species of fish to be introduced — warm water combination.

Deer Visits Capital—

Last month John Stapf phoned Game Protector Mark Motter to inform him a doe deer was stranded in one of the Stapf Construction Company's huge warehouses located at the northern edge of Harrisburg. The animal had come into the storage yard over a seven foot fence surrounding the enclosure.

Says Motter, "Workmen opened the gate and allowed the deer to go free in the suburban area, near the Blue Mountain. Several youths attired in Davey Crockett regalia and armed with bows excited the creature. On the loose only a short time the animal returned to its place of refuge in the Stapf Company building to evade the youngsters.

"The deer was permitted to remain there until evening, for its own safety and that of humans. During the night Deputy William Harper and I had the watchman open the doors of the building and the enclosure gate. Instead of departing through these openings the deer dove through a side window sixteen inches wide, leaped over the high fence and disappeared into the darkness."

To Fete Leffler—

A testimonial banquet honoring Ross L. Leffler, Assistant Secretary of the U. S. Department of the Interior, is scheduled for 7 p. m., June 1, at the Scottish Rite Cathedral, New Castle, Pa.

The event is sponsored by the Northwest Division of the Pennsylvania Federation of Sportsmen's Clubs. The banquet chairman is Seth L. Myers, 480 North Oakland Avenue, Shraon.

Outdoorsmen, conservation officials and hundreds of other persons grateful to the guest of honor for his many years of unselfish service in their behalf, will be present. Mike Hudoba, nationally known writer for Sports Afield magazine, will address the gathering.

The New Castle event will be the second of its kind in recent months to honor the former Pittsburgh and Philadelphia steel executive, who served for many years as a member of the Penna. Game Commission. On April 6 Leffler, a life-time conservationist, was tendered a testimonial banquet by the sportsmen of southwestern Pennsylvania.

School Budget Adopted by Joint Board

A budget of $384.207 has been adopted by the Perry-Lower Tyrone Joint School District for the 1957-58 school year.

This is approximately $12,000 higher than last year's budget. However, the current tax levy of 40 mills on real estate and $8 a head per capita has been retained.

The assessed valuation of Perry Twp. and Perry Borough is $1.-745,815, up to 8,000. In Perry-Lower Tyrone Twp. the assessed valuation is $284.000, down $2.000.

The new budget calls for the following expenditures:

General control, $15,555; instructional services, $286,295; auxiliary agencies, $6,811; operation of plant, $37,650; maintenance of plant, $5.400; fixed charges, $25,-800 and payments to state school building authority, $9,907.

Board Opens Bids At Recent Meeting

The Perry-Lower Tyrone Joint School Board met recently at the Lower Tyrone Brownfield Memorial School with Dr. Bruno Bonucci in charge.

A report was given on the progress for the new school for Perryopolis. Bids were opened for the painting of the junior high building at Perryopolis, commercial equipment and janitorial supplies for the 1957-58 school term.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kranik and family, of Perryopolis, spent the past weekend visiting friends and relatives in Cleveland.

'Silk Stockings' To Open Civic Opera Season

Stars and co-stars for this season's Civic Light Opera productions have been announced by William Wymetal, managing director.

The 12th season of "Music Under The Stars" will open June 24 at Pitt Stadium with "Silk Stockings." The six-week season will close August 3 with "Fanny."

The shows will play every week night in Pittsburgh's Theatre Under The Stars (Pitt Stadium, Oakland) at 8:45 p. m. (d.s.t.).

"Silk Stockings," playing the week of June 24-29, will star Dolores Gray with Lawrence Brooks.

"The Great Waltz," playing the week of July 1-6, will star Lois Hunt with Terry Saunders and William Shirley. "Pajama Game," playing the week of July 8-13, will star John Raitt with Neile Adams and Patricia Marand. "Carousel," playing the week of July 15-20, will star John Raitt with Margot Moser. "Damn Yankees," playing the week of July 22-27, will star Gretchen Wyler with Robert Smith. "Fanny," playing the week of July 29 August 3, will star Florence Henderson with John Brownlee.

The Civic Light Opera dancing and singing ensemble will be represented by many young people from the Tri-State district, Wymetal said.

New Quiet Jet Is Unveiled at Plant in State

QUEHANNA, Pa. (UP)—A new jet engine, which operates more quietly than any known commercial engine of the jet type, was unveiled Tuesday at the Curtiss-Wright Corp. plant here.

In addition to reducing the noise nuisance factor in airport areas, the engine was described as so powerful that it will permit airliners to use airfields which at present cannot accomodate fully-loaded, long-range jets on hot days when engine efficiency drops.

Roy T. Hurley, president and board chairman of Curtiss-Wright, said the 12,500 - pound engine, known as the TJ-38, was developed jointly by is firm and Bristol Aeroplane Co., Ltd., of Fulton, England.

Hurley said the TJ-38 operates at temperatures 360 degrees lower than other jet engines in its thrust class. Operation, he said, is economical and the weight per pound of thrust developed is low.

GOP Money Bills To Reach Floor of State House Today

HARRISBURG (UP)—The Republican General Fund appropriation bills were expected to reach the floor of the House today with a prediction by GOP leaders they will receive the support of their entire 126-man delegation.

GOP Whip Allen M. Gibson (Warren) said the Republican-controlled Appropriations Committee will approve the $1.418.244,000 budget proposal following a morning meeting. He said the measures are expected to clear the chamber next Tuesday and then go to the Senate, where final action could not be taken until about mid-June.

In the Senate, however, Democrats did not wait for the bills to appear before them to launch their attack against the budget cuts which would force Gov. George M. Leader's administration to reduce expenditures for the next two years by some $94,-500.000.

Sen. Joseph M. Barr, Democratic state chairman, took his cue on the Senate floor Wednesday from GOP Whip Albert R. Pechan's ostensibly uncontroversial resolution aimed at ridding Capitol Hill of its pigeons.

Pechan's resolution would have authorized the Joint State Government Commission to put into effect a system for discouraging pigeons from nesting in and around capital buildings. Barr, however, opposed immediate consideration of the measure, pointing out that funds for the anti-bird campaign had been cut out of the budget "by those butchers" in the House.

Barr hit GOP leaders for "railroading" through their version of the Commonwealth's fiscal program for 1957-59 without consulting either the Democratic or even "most Republicans" in the Legislature.

Says No Meeting Held

The General Appropriations bill a copy of which he held in his hand, was printed and numbered for submission to the Assembly, Barr said, without a meeting by the full membership of the Appropriations Committee.

Senate Majority Leader Rowland B. Mahany (R-Crawford) was apparently not yet ready to defend the fiscal program of his House colleagues, but he warned that the public "should not anticipate what the final form of the bill will be."

"We can discuss the bill," Mahany said, "when we receive it from the House. And we can amend what we don't like and return it to the House, but we ought to wait at least until the bill is in our hands."

With the final adjournment target only three weeks away, Democrats made it clear they intend to continue sniping at the GOP budget regardless of its position in the legislative processes.

"We probably won't even see the bill until after the first of June—and maybe not until the fifteenth," Senate Minority Leader John H. Dent said. "We ought not to tell the people that we are going to quit the fifteenth of June with this monstrosity before us."

Meanwhile Leader charged in a statement that the Republicans, as part of their "devious strategy", "want to give people almost no time in which to raise their voices against this calculated undermining of their security and well-being."

Raps "Lobbyists"

The governor said the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association and "other special-interest lobbyists...framed this cold - blooded scheme to defraud and shortchange the people—there are Republican senators and House members who privately are disgusted with this dictation."

"I am confident that millions of Republicans throughout Pennsylvania will resent and oppose this scheme," the governor said. "And I am hopeful that conscientious and responsible Republicans in the General Assembly will resent and oppose it, too. It is my own hope and conviction that this scheme of the Pennsylvania Manufacturers Association will fail."

Four social welfare groups announced they will send representatives to Harrisburg next Monday to protest the GOP's proposed 27 million dollar slash in state Welfare Department requests.

A letter sent to all legislators was signed by Charles H. Frazier, president of Pennsylvania Mental Health, Inc.; Frank C. Foose, president of the Pennsylvania Citizens Association; Dr. Samuel D. Regester, presidtnt of the Pennsylvania Association for Retarded Children, and Dr. O. B. Poulson, executive secretary of the Division of Social Relations of the Pennsylvania Council of Churches.

Wholesale Food Index Shows Drop

NEW YORK (UP)—The Dun & Bradstreet wholesale food index for the week ended May 21, was measured at $6.09, a 0.3 per cent drop from the year ago level, the agency reported today.

The latest index compared with $6.08 a week earlier and $6.11 in the comparable period last year.

Reflecting the sum total of the price per pound of 31 foods in general use, the indicator showed seven advances, seven declines and 17 prices unchanged from a week ago.

New Officers Installed by Members of Woman's Club

Mrs. Edwin Hindmarsh, retiring as president of the Fayette City Woman's Club, was honored Tuesday evening with a dinner and program at the Nemacolin County Club.

The tables were arranged with centerpieces of yellow and white mums and stocks to carry out the club colors The dinner invocation was given by Mrs. Read Brightwell.

Mrs. Hindmarsh completed the club business of the year, heard the report of the auditing committee, given by Mrs. Robert Park Jr., and thanked her officers, committee chairmen and club members for their efforts during her two year term as president.

Mrs. William Crossland, of the Mother's Study Club, Connellsville, was a guest of the Fayette County president, Mrs. Prince Stone. Mrs. Stone complimented the president and the club for the number of hours and the financial support they had given in community, club, and welfare efforts. She then conducted the installation ceremony.

As each new officer was inducted, the retiring officers Mrs. Hindmarsh, president; Mrs. Raymond Barker, vice-president; Mrs Elmer Russell, second vice-president; Mrs. Read Brightwell, recording secretary; Mrs. Vernon Smith, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Samuel Hamer, treasurer and Mrs. Joseph Williams, parliamentarian each handed a lighted candle to her successor.

Installed were Mrs. George Troth, president; Mrs. Alard C. Dent, vice-president; Mrs Thomas Conway, second vice-president Mrs. Albert Walton, secretary; Miss Permelia Baldwin, corresponding secretary; Mrs. Richard Auther, treasurer and Mrs. Wayne Hawker, parliamentarian

Following installation Mrs Hindmarsh presented the gavel to Mrs Troth who made a short acceptance speach outlining some of the highlights of the recent convention in Philadelphia. She also named her department chairmen for the new year and asked that they meet with her to choose their committees on Monday evening, May 27 in the clubrooms of the Community Center.

Included as chairmen are:

Mrs. Vernon Smith and Mrs. William Hicks, program; Mrs. Howard McCrory and Mrs. James Hamer, park and garden; Mrs. Jack Stockton, publicity; Mrs. Charles Kuhns, by-laws; Mrs Conway, membership; Mrs. Joseph Williams, park and garden.

Mrs. Roy Mossburg, welfare; Mrs. Richard Auther, finance; Mrs. Charles Beazell, American home: Mrs. Mike Yusko, Mrs. Willard Auther and Mrs. John Traversari, ways and means; Mrs. D. Earl Daniel, education and Mrs. James Eley, cards and flowers.

Following the business meeting the group retired to the main lounge of the club to enjoy a fashion show of summer fasions, including sports and dress clothes.

Mrs. Dent and Mrs. Troth, program chairmen for the past year, were in charge of arrangements.

Girl Scouts in Outing Here

Troop 43 of Fayette City Girl Scouts, under the leadership of Mrs. Thurman Bailey enjoyed a cook-out at the North end of town Tuesday evening.

The fire was built as part of a test by Joyce Humphries, Ruth Jane Bronder, and Diana Williams. Gayle Arrow and Thelma Cramer were in charge of games.

Mrs. Bailey announced that the week end camp at Laurel State Park would be held on June 7, 8 and 9.

Youth Fellowship Plans Activities

The Westminster Youth Fellowship of the Fayette City Presbyterian Church is making plans for attending a week of church camp this summer at Bethany College West Va

Humphrey To Leave By July 1

WASHINGTON (UP) —Treasury Secretary George M. Humphrey wants to leave President Eisenhower's cabinet by July 1 to return to private business, it was learned today.

Highly - placed administration sources said Humphrey originally agreed to stay in the cabinet until the President's record peacetime budget of $71,800,000,000 for fiscal 1958 finally gets through Congress, probably about the first of August.

These sources said Humphrey still will stay in Washington until Congress quits if Eisenhower insists. But they said he is anxious now to get back into private life as chairman of the National Steel Corp. of Pittsburgh, a job that is being held open for him.

Anderson Successor

According to the best available reports Humphrey's successor already has been chosen. He is Robert B. Anderson, 47-year-old former deputy secretary of defense and a leading "Texas Democrat for Eisenhower."

Anderson was considered one of the bright young men of the early days of the Eisenhower administration. He is said to have won the complete trust of the President when he served as secretary of the Navy and later as deputy defense secretary.

Before his government service Anderson was the $60,000-a - year manager of the W. T. Waggoner Estate in Texas, a 300-million-dollar oil, cattle and farming enterprise.

More recently Anderson has been president of Ventures, Ltd., a Canadian mining firm with world-wide interests. Reports from New York, where he has been living, are that he is disposing of his stock in the concern preparatory to taking over the cabinet post.

The world's largest carpet is believed to be the one in New York's Coliseum. It is more than two acres in area.

Texans Speak on Foreign Aid

WASHINGTON (UP) — Two prominent Texans have made speeches in the last month concerning foreign aid.

One said in part:

"...We are not seeking to buy friendship or to create a system of satellite nations. The first is impossible and the second is a way of life which we leave to the Soviet Union.

"We seek rather to help people become self supporting. And gifts —however well intentioned—rarely accomplish that end...

"Very few Americans begrudge help—real help... Furthermore, very few Americans believe we can or should turn our backs on the rest of the world and pretend it does not exist."

The other said in part:

"We do not seek to buy our friends. We do not seek to make satellites.

"We do seek to help other nations to become strong and stay free—and learn, through living in freedom, how to conquer poverty...

"This purpose...reflects our national character. We are stirred not only by calculations of self interest but also by decent regard for the needs and the hopes of all our fellowmen."

The first speaker was Senate Democratic Leader Lyndon B. Johnson at San Antonio, Tex., April 26.

The second speaker was President Eisenhower, in a nationwide TV-radio address Tuesday night.

Turns Down Vote

ERIE, Pa. (UP) — Erie voters turned down a proposed $3,600,000 bond issue for construction of a new city hall in Tuesday's election. The vote was 9,365 to 3,365.

with golden Cling Peaches broiled on Kaiser Quilted Foil

One sure way to make party history. Just marinate two-inch lamb (or other meat) squares in your favorite barbecue sauce. Thread on skewers with parboiled onions, green pepper and mushrooms. Broil. Ten minutes before meat turns its handsomest brown, place golden cling peach halves on Kaiser Broiler Foil (the new stronger "Quilted" foil). Fill peach hollows with catsup or chili sauce and grill until meat is ready.

Await Decision on Little Girl

TALLAHASSEE, Fla. (UP)—The fate of a fugitive Jewish couple's six-year fight to keep little Hildy McCoy, whom they adopted from an unwed Roman Catholic mother, hinges today on a legal decision by Gov. LeRoy Collins.

Mr and Mrs Melvin B Ellis, charged with kidnaping Hildy after losing legal custody in Massachusetts, go before Collins in an extradition hearing.

Collins took the unprecedented step of presiding personally because the decision involves so deeply the lives of the blonde, blue-eyed child and the many people who love her.

Ellis said he was "touched deeply" on visiting the governor's office Wednesday to find there a huge stack of letters, telegrams and petitions carrying as many as 10,000 signatures from people interested in Hildy

"You know," Ellis said, "the secretary told us she had read every one of them and that only around 100 were in favor of our being sent back to Massachusetts."

Hildy's plight has tugged at many heart strings and stirred a religious controversy as well as a court battle in Massachusetts.

The mother, Marjorie McCoy said she did not know the Ellises were Jewish when she signed adoption papers when Hildy was 10 days old.

Lebanon Chorus To Hold Program Tomorrow Night

The Lebanon Chorus will stage its final performance of the school year tomorrow evening at 7 o'clock in the Lebanon School auditorium. Leon Trembach will direct.

In tomorrow night's program the chorus will present scenes from such Broadway hits as "My Fair Lady", "Most Happy Fella", "Oklahoma" and "Peter Pan".

Additional highlights of the musicals will be featured by the crack Lebanaires band.

"Peter Pan", "Wendy" and "Michael", played respectively by Judy Smith, Barbara Assad and Bradely Montgomery, will be on hand to act as masters of ceremonies.

Other key performers will be: Barry Bindl, Carla Watts and Terence Peto, in "My Fair Lady" scenes; Mary Ann Uram, Thomas Beck and Juletta Domenick, in "Most Happy Fella," and Charles Hommey, Susan Naylor, Della Smith and Carole Heath, in "Oklahoma".

Others in the chorus include Grace Ahlborn, Linda Hommey, Betty Ranker, Bill Zundel, Rosemary Aitken, Beverly Driver, Margaret Peters, Leon Wagstaff, John Lingrel, Jeraline Freshnock, Marlene Martak, Marlene Yoder, Lois Santmyer, Delbert Bergman, Harry Wall, Nancy Hughes, Janet Patterson and Mary Katherine Sersen.

Donald Hughes, Stephen Uram, Bill Ruth and Terence Peto, band members, will present selections from the hits.

The chorus has been an active group the past year, performing at Rostraver High School, California State Teachers College and Lebanon School. Marilyn Pivarnik, of Monessen, former accompanist for the CSTC choir, will also perform tomorrow night.

Prepare Quick Fruit Tarts for Dessert Party

Showers for the coming baby are as much appreciated as those for the bride-to-be. Perhaps the enjoyment of the practical gifts is even more than it was for the little luxuries received on former occasions.

Pink and blue are the colors for babies, but there is a modern trend toward other pastel shades. It no longer seems essential to dress an infant according to sex. Whether the baby turns out to be a boy or girl, everything will be as dainty for one as for the other. And of course, if the guests are experienced with babies, there will be plenty of advice as to the problems which each young mother believes can be solved only through experience.

It is quite popular to plan a dessert party for the guests. After a soup or salad eaten at home, everyone can indulge as a special treat in a luscious dessert, offered probably with coffee or tea, or a choice of either. If the day is warm the beverages may be iced, or there can be a choice.

Without much preparation, it is possible to make a delectable fruit torte if one of those good angel or sponge cake rings is purchased. Or you may prefer to prepare your own angel food from a mix and to bake it in a tube pan. While this does not take long to mix and the baking time is comparatively short, plenty of time must be allowed for it to cool on a rack after it has been taken from the oven. Otherwise it will not come out of the pan in good shape.

STRAWBERRY BANANA TORTE

1 angel food ring cake
½ cup sour cream
¼ cup sugar
¼ cup crushed strawberries
½ cup sliced strawberries
¾ cup sliced bananas
1 cup heavy cream, whipped
½ banana
Whole strawberries.

Slice cake horizontally into 5 equal-sized layers. Combine sour cream, sugar and crushed strawberries. Fold sour cream mixture, sliced strawberries and sliced bananas into whipped cream. Place about ½ cup fruit mixture between each layer and on top of cake. Chill until mixture is firm. Slice remaining ½ banana and garnish top and edge of plate with banana slices and whole berries. Yield: 12 to 20 servings.

Chicken Can Be Barbecued In Broiler Oven

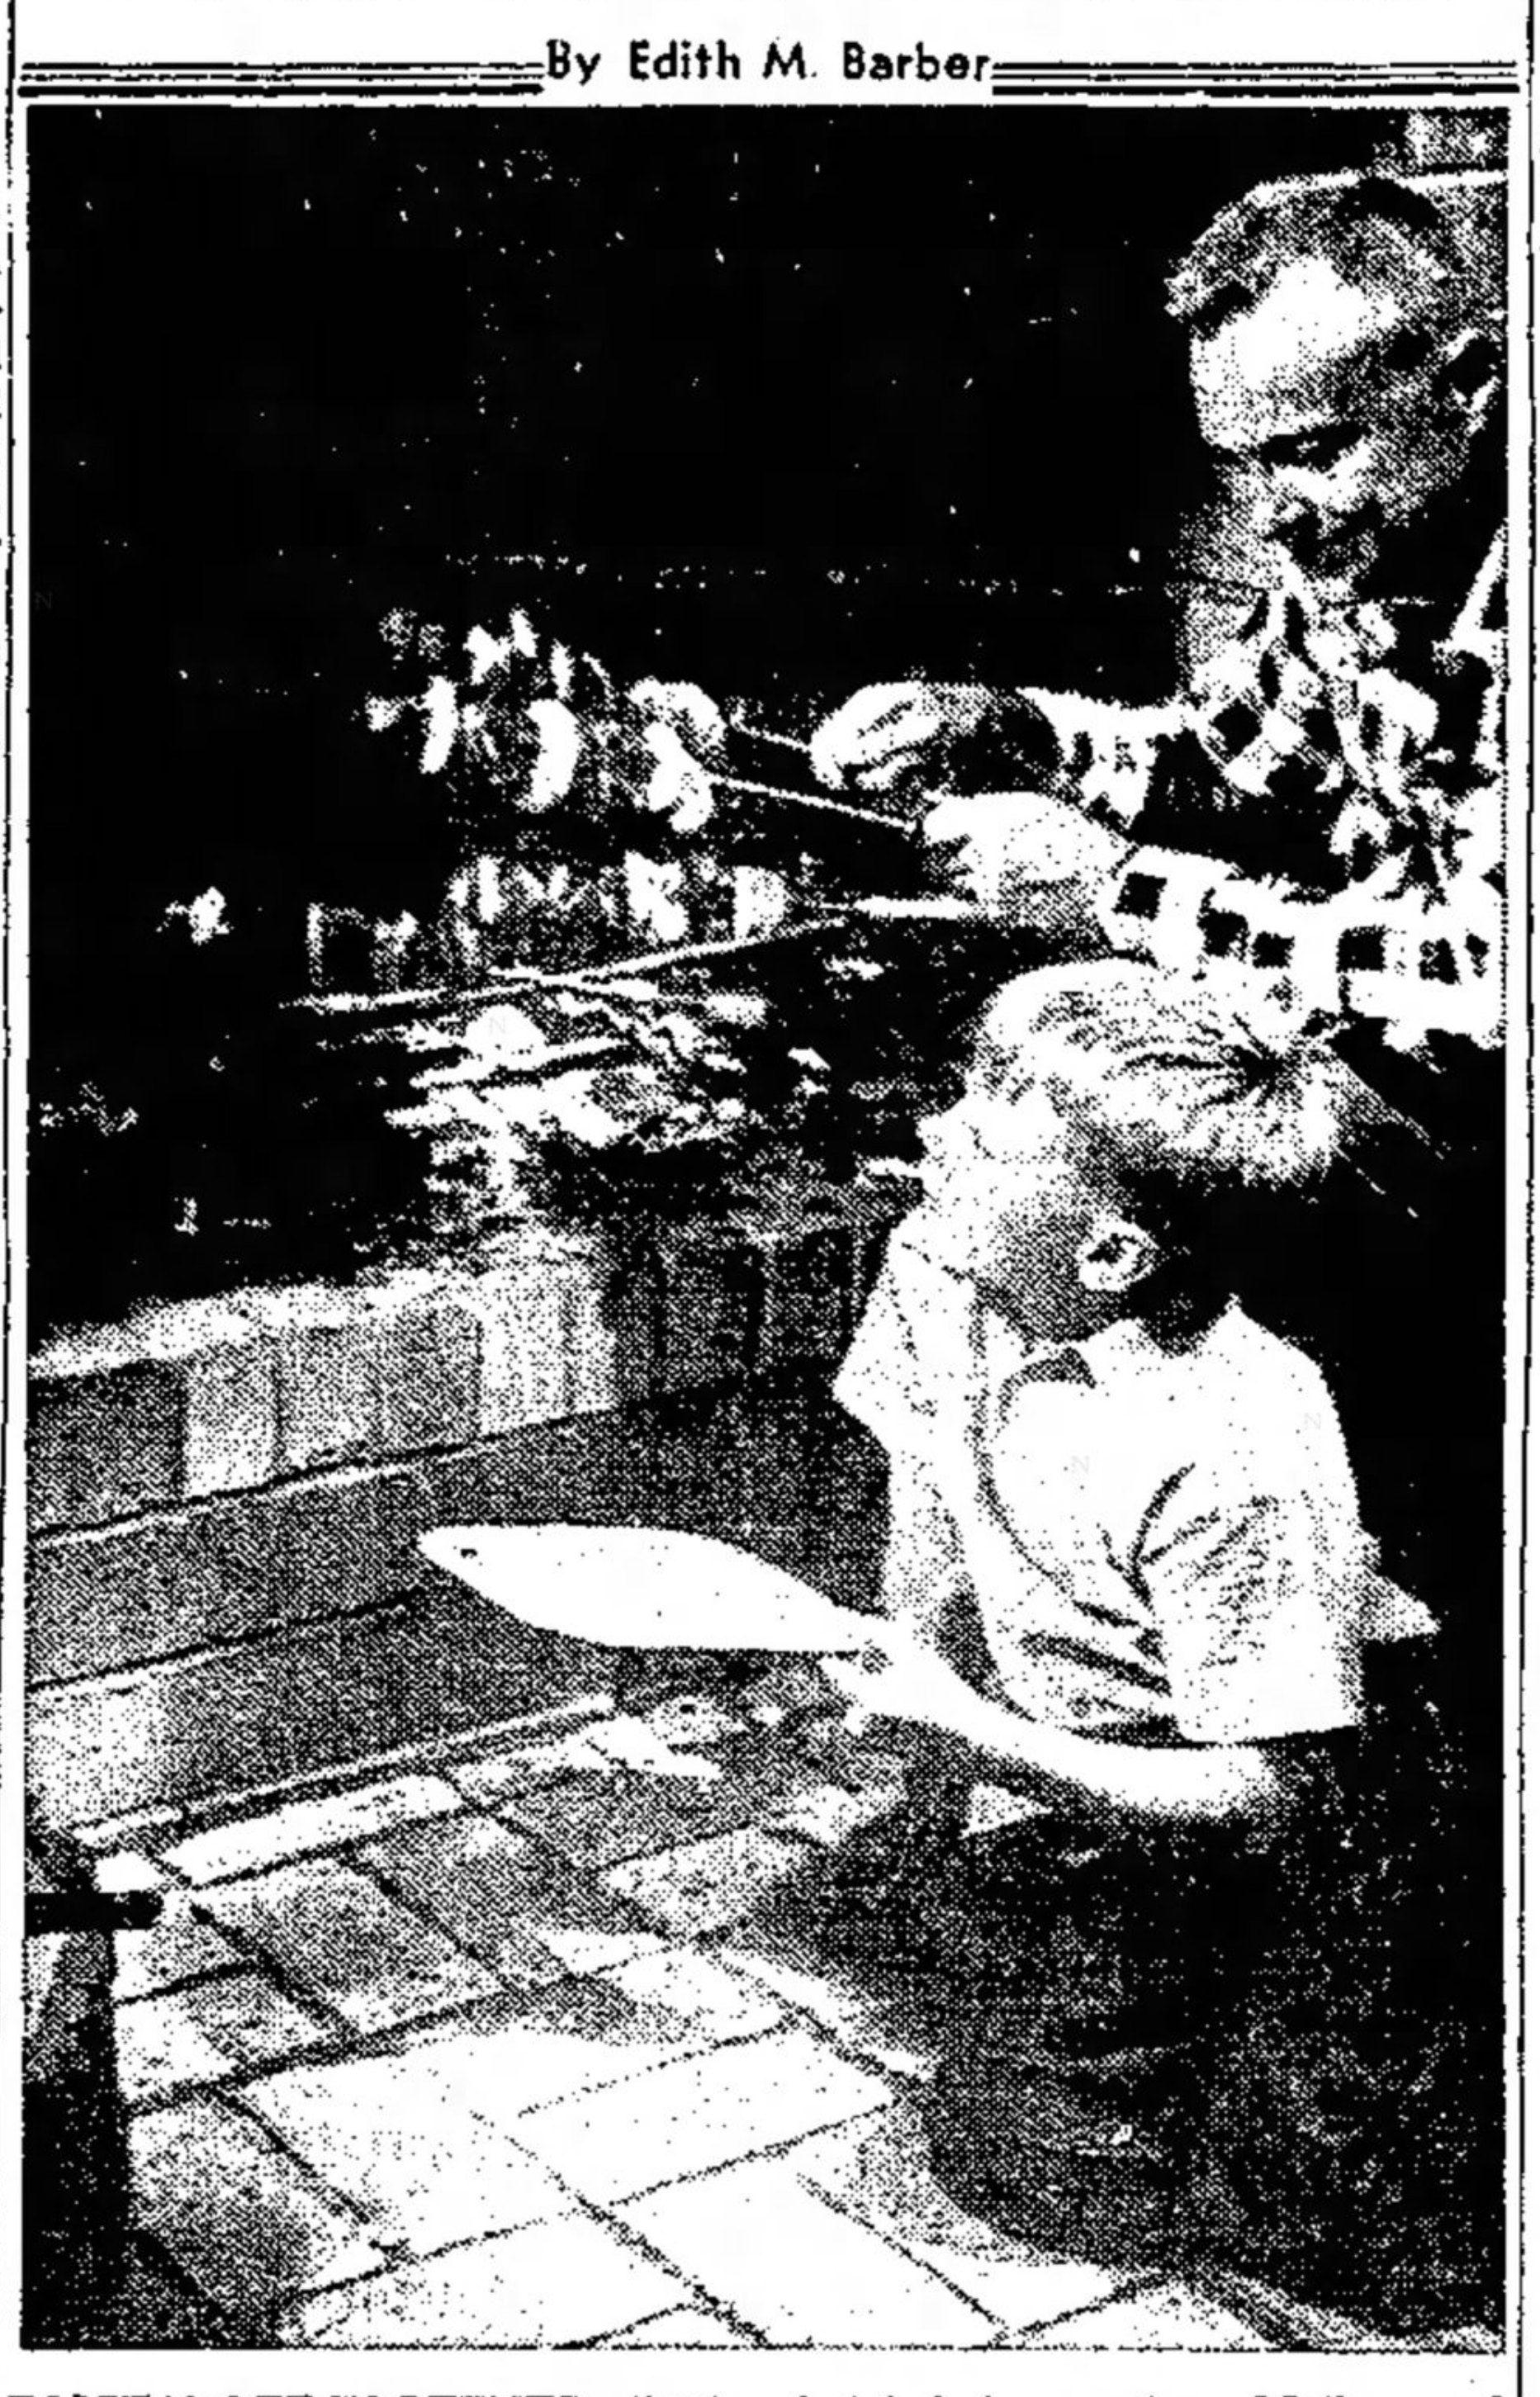
Chicken was among the last of the meats to join the barbecue parade. It has been discovered that this method of preparation can be used pretty well in the home kitchen as well as on the outside grill.

The interesting combination of red beans, which now can be purchased in a can, with rice plus the sauce provides a new taste experience. This is practically a one-dish meal in itself. While it is no better than creamed or scalloped potatoes that always go so well with chicken, all like a novelty once in a while.

It is suggested that chicken prepared in the broiler oven may have the appearance of that done on an outside grill over coals. This is accomplished by heating the broiler rack very hot and pressing this into the chicken long enough to "brand" the skin. This also adds a touch of flavor.

YOUR FOOD PROBLEM

By Edith M. Barber



FAMILY GET-TOGETHER, that's what kabobs are for. Mother and daughter can prepare, father and son can roast, these succulent cubes of beef and vegetables. The kabob marinade, what's more, does double duty, flavoring a savory spaghetti sauce.

Entire Family Can Prepare Kabobs for Outdoor Fare

Little girls like to help Mother in the kitchen, and small boys are just as happy in assisting Dad to cook over an outside grill or an inside fireplace. Steaks and hamburg cakes are often the specialties of the men of the household.

Edith Barber

Kabobs, for which Mother may have given a hand in getting them ready for cooking are a good alternate. The young man can be given more responsibility for these than he can for a large steak, for instance. A much shorter time will be needed for cooking and this is sometimes an asset, as a thick steak must be supervised so carefully, and the coals or grill itself regulated to make sure the inside meat is cooked to a turn.

There is more to cooking a steak than charring the outside. Perhaps you've had the experience of cutting into one and finding the interior barely warmed through. An advantage of kabobs in that each person may choose whether he likes his meat rare, medium or well done.

Spaghetti, with a savory tomato sauce seasoned with the mixture in which the kabobs have been marinated, is delicious with a meal of this sort. If you prefer to have potatoes, it is a good idea to bake them previously, take out the contents and after seasoning them, replace them in the potato shell for a final reheating in the oven.

KABOBS WITH SPAGHETTI

½ cup French dressing
teaspoon garlic salt
1 teaspoon oregano
1 medium onion, sliced
8 muchrooms
2 medium tomatoes, quartered
1 pound beef sirloin, cut in 1-inch cubes.

Combine French dressing, garlic salt and oregano, and beat or shake until blended. Add onion, mushrooms, tomatoes and beef and marinate 1 hour. Arrange beef cubes on skewers and broil 3 to 4 inches from heat for 5 minutes. Drain vegetables, reserving dressing, and arrange on skewers with beef. Broil 10 minutes or until browned on all sides. Serve with spaghetti and tomato sauce. Yield: 4 servings.

SPAGHETTI AND TOMATO SAUCE

Add reserved dressing mixture to 1 8-ounce can tomato sauce, and heat to boiling point, stirring occasionally. Cook over low heat 15 minutes. Serve hot over cooked spahetti, and top with kabobs.

SHERRY CREAM CAKE

Cut angel food loaf into 1-inch slices. On each plate, place one slice of cake. Top each with sweetened whipped cream flavored to taste with sherry. Garnish with whole strawberries or maraschino cherries.

Tasty Recipes

BROILED BARBECUED CHICKEN

2 broiler-fryers, about 2 pounds, split lengthwise
¾ cup butter or margarine, melted
1 cup white vinegar
2 ½ tablespoons salt
½ cup brown sugar
¼ teaspoon cayenne
1 cup rice, cooked
1 can (1 pound) red beans, drained.

Flatten chicken in bottom of broiler pan, skin side down. Hook wing tips onto back behind shoulder joints to expose thick breast meat to heat. Combine melted butter or margarine, vinegar, salt, brown sugar and cayenne and blend well over low heat until hot but not boiling. Brush chicken with sauce, and place 7 to 9 inches from heat. Broil, turning on both sides until browned, basting frequently with sauce, about 1 hour or until leg bone twists readily out of thigh joint. When chicken is about ¾ done, set aside, pouring off juices to reserve for serving at table. Place cooked rice and beans in bottom of broiler pan, place chicken on top and continue broiling, basting with sauce, until chicken is done. Yield: 4 servings.

1 Death Notice

BRASSART — Marceau, 63, of 702 4th St., Coraopolis, died May 21, at 7:30 p. m. Surviving are five brothers, Paul, of Farrell; Hippolyte (Polite) of Fairhope; Klebert, of Roscoe; Ferdinand, of Fallowfield Twp. and Louis, of Oakdale; six sisters, Mrs Louise Gould, of Clinton; Mrs. Virginia Donnelly, of Ellwood City; Mrs Stephanie Herent, Mrs. Suzanne Mourier and Mrs Pauline Komonder, all of North Charleroi and Mrs. Ida Gerard, of Fallowfield Twp. Friends are being received at the Ferguson Funeral Home, Broad Ave., Belle Vernon, from 1 to 5 and from 7 to 10 p. m. Funeral services will be held Saturday, May 25, at 1:30 p. m. from the funeral home. Interment will be in Monongahela Memorial Park. Shelby D. Ferguson, funeral director.

WASIL, SR. — John, of 475 Clarendon Ave., Monessen, died May 21, at 10:35 a. m. at his home. Surviving are three sons, John, Jr and Michael, both in Czechoslovakia and Anthony, of Monessen; a daughter, Mrs. John (Mary) Kolesar, of Ontario, Can.; Thirteen grandchildren and nine great grandchildren. Friends will be received at the Check Home for Funerals, 100 Schoonmaker Ave., after 7 p. m., May 22. Brief funeral services will be held Saturday, May 25, at 8:30 a. m. from the funeral home. Additional services will follow at 9 o'clock from the St. John the Divine Russian Orthodox Church with the Very Rev. John Govrusik officiating. Interment will be in Grandview Cemetery. John L. Kravets, funeral director.

2 Card of Thanks

HARGER — We wish to thank the many thoughtful friends who extended us kindness in our recent bereavement, the death of Mrs. Myrtle Harger. Floral tributes, expressions of sympathy, spiritual comfort and the help of all those who assisted with funeral services will be remembered with gratitude.
The Harger Family

SINICHAK — We wish to thank the many thoughtful friends and neighbors who extended us kindness in our recent bereavement, the death of Mrs Mary Sinichak. The ministrations of the Rev. Michael Durisin, of the St. Michael Greek Catholic Church, Donora, masses, floral tributes, expressions of sympathy, spiritual comfort, cars loaned for the funeral, and the aid of the pall bearers, as well as all those who assisted at the funeral will be remembered with gratitude.
Family of Pete Sinichak and Mrs Hutchison

TV for Morocco

RABAT, Morocco (UP)— Two television stations will be built in Morocco this year for American armed forces personnel, it was reported today. The stations will be located near Nouaceur and Sidi-slimane Air Base.

Diplomats Get Case Of Soldier

WASHINGTON (UP)—The State Department has instructed U.S. Ambassador Douglas MacArthur II to consult with Japanese authorities on the status of an American GI charged with killing a Japanese woman.

Officials said today MacArthur was told to send to Washington, after the consultations, his recommendations on resolving the current fight over whether Japan or the United States should try the soldier.

The order went out to MacArthur after the case was brought to the attention of the White House.

'Status of Forces'

The soldier, Army Specialist Third-Class William S. Girard, is accused of killing Mrs. Naha Sakai by firing an empty cartridge at her from a grenade launcher while he was guarding a machine gun emplacement at a U.S. firing range in Japan.

The Japanese claim he must be tried under local law in accordance with the provisions of the "status of forces" agreement between the two countries. The Pentagon has refused to deliver Girard to Japanese authorities because some military officials feel he should be tried by an American court martial because the incident occurred on a U.S. base.

President Eisenhower, after conferring with Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker, ordered the Pentagon and State Department to work out a solution with the Japanese.

Parking Lot Is 'For the Birds'

LAARBRUECK, Germany (UP) — American photo crews arriving here for reconnaissance exercise "Royal Flush" were startled by British refusal to move a RAF photo laboratory truck blocking the entrance to a parking area.

"The truck stays there, guv'nor," a RAF sergeant told them. "This area is strictly for the birds."

A chaffinch had built its nest on the truck's hood.

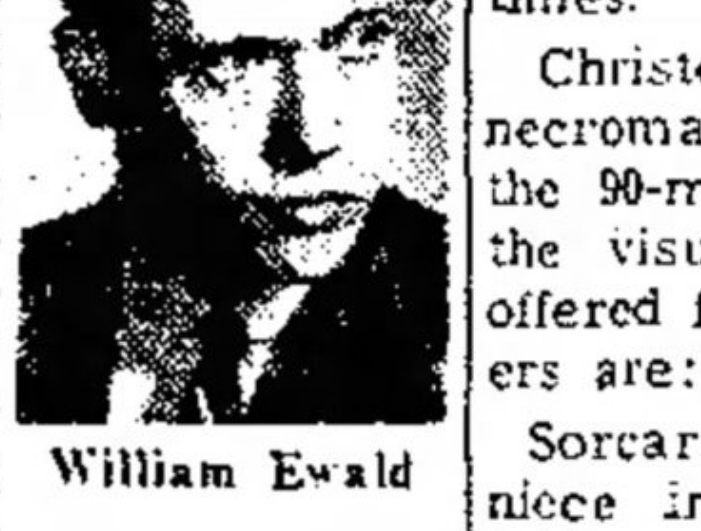
Magician Hoping to Catch Bullet in Teeth

By WILLIAM EWALD

NEW YORK (UP)—Milbourne Christopher, a magician with first-class teeth and a dandy set of gums, may have to replace the whole works next week.



William Ewald

In fact, someone may even have to replace Christopher.

The 43-year-old sorcerer is going to catch a bullet in his choppers, it says here, on NBC-TV's "Festival of Magic" next Monday night. It will mark an elegant "first" for American TV.

A student of abracadabra since the age of 12, Christopher has never attempted this particular caper before onstage. He has been practicing like crazy the past two months, against the better advice of his wife and dentist.

Practices In Apartment

"My wife has begged me not to do it. You know, the danger factor is really quite high," said Christopher. "I've been practicing in open fields during spare moments and in my apartment."

In your apartment?

"Sure," said Christopher. "We have a corridor with thick walls and we shoot the rifle—it's a .22 caliber—at night when people have their TV sets on loudest. So far I've tried the stunt 30 times and so far, it's worked out 30 times."

Christopher will be one of seven necromancers who'll perform on the 90-minute spectacular. Among the visual bon-bons that will be offered for the delectation of viewers are:

Sorcar, an Indian, who saws his niece in half; June Merlin, an Irish girl, who changes rabbits into mink; Rene Septembre, a French artist, who makes chickens out of cats; Robert Harbin, from South Africa, who likes to suspend assistants in space; Cardini of England who does card tricks with gloves on; and Li King Si, a Tibetan, who floats a gold ball in air.

Christopher, a fugitive from Baltimore, will present other illusion acts of his own in addition to the bullet bit.

"This business of catching a bullet has a long history behind it," explained Christopher. "The first record we have is in 1631 when a fellow named Coulew did it in public. After that, other magicians tried it with early pistols, shotguns and cannonballs.

Toll: 12 Magicians

"I believe that so far, 12 magicians have died and a number have been wounded in trying to perform it. I know that in 1922 Houdini announced he would try it, but was persuaded not to."

The trick has been presented on Canadian TV before—back in 1955 an Australian, Jack Carson, pulled it off. NBC will have a doctor on the set when Christopher offers up himself to Trendex and Nielsen.

"I'm not Superman and I don't claim to be," said Christopher. I'm a magician who tries to be an entertainer. But this I will say in all humility, it's quite dangerous.

Your Health—

These Tips Can Make Night Driving Easier

By H. N. BUNDESEN, M. D.

Good night vision is an important asset to night-time driving. And since almost everyone drives at least a little during darkness, I think you might appreciate a few tips which can make the job a little easier.

Alcohol and gasoline—you have heard this time and time again—don't mix. This is especially true as far as seeing in the darkness or near darkness is concerned.

Alcohol, even in the hangover stage, impairs the sight because it slows the rate of oxygen absorption by the blood. So does heavy smoking. For this reason, it is best to shun both liquor and chain smoking, particularly when you have to drive.

It will be a lot easier to see at night if you become dark-adapted before you begin your drive. Don't forget, it takes about half an hour before your eyes become adjusted to the darkness.

If you have to use a flashlight in the car, placing a piece of red paper over it will help prevent night blindness. You can go night blind in 30 seconds by looking at a bright light.

An exception is red light to which the rods — the tiny nerve ends on the retina of your eyes—are insensitive.

You might be able to avoid fatiguing these rods by blinking frequently and shifting your eyes every once in a while.

You will probably find it easier to see an object in the dark by looking above, below or to the side rather than directly at it. When you do have to face a bright light, shutting one eye will preserve your dark adaption in that eye.

Now I know you are going to ask, "What about eating carrots?"

Well, carrots actually will help cure night blindness in persons who have poor diets because they add Vitamin A. However, Vitamin A will not not make normal vision better.

The use of playing cards dates back to ancient Egypt and China.

Navy Can't Find Powerful Flares

JACKSONVILLE, Fla. (UP) — The Navy searched without success through part of the Ocala National Forest by ground and by air Wednesday for a powerful flare pod that could touch off a big forest fire.

The pod, containing 52 aerial photography flares with a total of more than 2½ billion candlepower, was dropped accidentally by a Navy jet photographic plane Tuesday night.

Billy Graham Crusade Has Labor Dispute

NEW YORK (UP) — Billy Graham preached a fire - eating sermon Wednesday night but for a time it appeared it might be extinguished by a pitcher of ice water even before it got started.

The sermon before a Madison Square Garden capacity crowd of 18,500 was delivered on schedule, however, after settlement of a minor but involved squabble between Graham's aides and the Stagehands' Union over placement of a water pitcher on the speaker's lectern.

Roger Hull, chairman of the New York Crusade executive committee, said the Graham team yielded to demands of Local 1 of the Stagehands' Union because "we felt it best not to do anything that would interfere with the success of the crusade."

He said the crusade agreed to employ two stagehands, at about $15 apiece each night, to stand by and place a pitcher of ice water and glasses on the speaker's lectern.

But Willis G. Haymaker, in charge of special arrangements for several Graham crusades both here and abroad, said the men would be on duty "to perform any duties their jobs might call for—such as shifting chairs, moving pianos, and so forth."

Graham spoke on "the wickedest man who ever lived — Hanasseh, the son of Hezekiah." The sermon fairly crackled with pungent jabs at "hypocrites and modern idolators who worship TV, radio, novels and other entertainment.

He said that Manasseh, "who came to the throne at the age of 12 and reigned over Judah 52 years was guilty of idolatry, covetousness, adultery, murder, the maiming and slaying of babies and every other sin in the Bible.

House Is Feeling Picked On

WASHINGTON (UP) — The House of Representatives is feeling picked on.

Someone tried to take away its new panic-proof revolving door. Someone even proposed doing away with Congress entirely.

But the House insisted Wednesday that all of these things are decided musts — particularly Congress.

The matter of the revolving door and the office building came up when the House considered its own budget for the next fiscal year.

House Savings Suggested

A handful of economy zealots fresh from chopping at other parts of the federal budget suggested that the House might want to pinch a few half-dollars itself. The economizers proposed that the House cut from its budget:

$7,500,000 to continue work on its proposed 64-million - dollar office building for which a hole has already been dug.

$10,000 for the revolving door which not only is panic - proof, but also is automatic and collapsible.

Rep. Clare E. Hoffman (R-Mich.) said the hole for the office building could be used for parking cars. Or, he said, it could be filled with foreign aid money.

Rep. H. R. Gross (R-Iowa) suggested the hole be made into a memorial to economy.

But the House voted down a motion to cut the building funds 260-176. And it shouted down a motion to struggle along without the revolving door.

"An Anarchistic" Proposal

Then Rep. Charles O. Porter told the House about an "anarchistic" proposal made by L. M. Evans, president of the National Small Businessmen's Assn.

Porter said Evans told the association's anniversary dinner Tuesday night that the country would be better off without Congress — and the rest of the government, as well.

"He told us. . .that the country would be better off if there were a fence around Washington," Porter said indignantly.

"It was plain to me he did not represent nor did he speak for the small business men I know and respect."

The few congressmen in the House applauded.

Huge Bird Is Sulky Peacock

MEMPHIS, Tenn. (UP)—An excited housewife telephoned Zoo Director Raymond Gray Wednesday about a huge bird that was perched on her chimney top making strange loud noises.

Gray told Mrs. William Loewenberg not to worry about it.

That's just a male peacock that strayed from the zoo after being spurned in love, Gray said.

He explained that when a male peacock is thwarted in love he "gets mad and goes off and sulks."

He said the mating season will be over in about two weeks and the peacock then will return to the zoo.

Shrimp Boat Picks Up Four

MIAMI (UP) —The Civil Aeronautics Administration dispatched a shrimp boat to tiny Swan Island 600 miles southwest of here today to pick up foufr persons marooned after their schooner cracked up.

Edgar Hamper, a ham radio operator in Hialeah, Fla., reported Wednesday night that he had contacted the island and notified the CAA.

Hamper said they identified themselves as Mr. and Mrs. Shep Bingham of Silver Springs, Md., and two American sailors. Bingham said his schooner cracked up last Saturday, according to Hamper.

Luggage Firm Is Charged by U. S.

WASHINGTON (UP) — The Federal Trade Commission today charged that Reliable Luggage, Inc., of West Pittsburgh, Pa., has used fictitious pricing in selling luggage to retail stores.

The FTC charged Reliable Luggage attached fictitiously high retail price labels to its products.

Big Carrier's Propellers Are Broken May 15

WASHINGTON (UP)—The aircraft carrier Franklin D. Roosevelt broke its propellers without striking a submerged object in an accident off the Florida coast on May 15, the Navy said today.

The Navy earlier believed the 45,000 ton ship had hit a submerged object, possibly an unmarked wreck or submarine, while steaming at high speed in about 100 feet of water off Mayport, Fla.

"A careful search by destroyers. . .and by a salvage ship could locate no obstruction on the bottom in the area," the Navy said.

It said inspection by divers showed that one blade of one propeller on the port side broke off at an old weld and then passed through the other propeller on the port side, damaging it.

The Roosevelt has gone to Newport News, Va. Shipbuilding and Drydock Co. for repairs.
